Historic White House About To Topple, Truman Reports

. . . 5½ Million Requested To Rebuild Entire Interior

HERE IS THE CENTURY AND A HALF old White House, which is so unsafe, President Truman told congress, that the Truman family was forced to move to the Blair House. He requested $5,400,000 to remodel the interior.

Prop-Up Job Will Require 15 Months

Complete Rebuilding Would Be Cheaper

By ROBERT G. NIXON.

WASHINGTON—(INS)—President Truman informed congress today that the historic old White House is about to fall down from its own weight.

The century and a half old mansion is so unsafe, the president officially told congress on advice of government engineers he and his family were forced to flee the building before it literally toppled down upon the first family.

The president and his household are living at Blair House.

Mr. Truman laid the whole story of the gradual deterioration of the old masonry and wood-trimmed structure before the lawmakers today. He formally requested $5,400,000 to rebuild almost the entire interior.

Historical Significance.

He said this essential reconstruction will require from 15 to 18 months, and urged congress to provide the necessary funds as speedily as possible.

The president said that the condition of the White House is such that "it...would be more economical from a purely financial standpoint to raze the building and to rebuild completely."

He said, however, that to do so would destroy a building "of tremendous historical significance in the growth of the nation" and he believes all possible portions of the original building should be preserved.

Mr. Truman related his story of the White House's condition in a letter to Vice President Barkley asking for the $5,400,000 appropriation from congress. The letter was accompanied by a detailed report of the condition of the mansion made by government engineers.

Deterioration Appalling.

The report said that the White House has become so weakened that virtually the entire interior of the building, including interior walls and floors and the basement, must be completely torn out and replaced by a modern steel and concrete structure.

The engineers' report said that "structurally, the building has deteriorated to an appalling degree...The degree and range of deterioration is such that by comparison the fire hazards are reduced to secondard importance... The character and extent of structural weaknesses were found to be truly appalling raising grave questions concerning the safety of the members of the presidential household if they remained domiciled in the structure."

Education Chief Is Appointed

Earl McGrath Is Named To Succeed Studebaker, Who Quit After A Row

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Earl James McGrath of New York was nominated by President Truman today to be U. S. commissioner of education. He would succeed John W. Studebaker.

Studebaker's resignationa last summer precipitated a row in the federal security agency over administrative policies.

Studebaker contended that Federal Security Administrator Oscar Ewing and his associates were trying to hinder the "zeal for democracy" program which he was pushing in the nation's schools.

Ewing told a news conference that Studebaker's charges were without basis, that he had found Studebaker to be an unsatisfactory commissioner and that he had been planning to discharge him.

Senate Hearing.

The Studebaker charges were aired at a senate subcommittee hearing but no action resulted. Studebaker now is chairman of the editorial board of Scholastic Magazines, Inc., New York City.

McGrath is professor of education at the University of Chicago.

During the last war he had the rank of lieutenant commander in the navy as officer in charge of the educational services section, bureau of naval personnel.

A native of Buffalo, N. Y., he attended the University of Buffalo and the University of Chicago. Coe college at Cedar Rapids, Ia., conferred the degree of doctor of humane letters in 1946.

In 1946 he was a member of a mission to Germany to survey the school system in the American-occupied zone.

From 1945 to 1948 he was dean of the college of liberal arts, University of Iowa.

Kendall Plans Candidacy In Mayoralty Race

Wants Economy In City Government

H. H. Kendall is the first to circulate petitions for mayor.

The Lincoln insurance man long active in republican political circles sees the need for more economy in city government and higher salaries for city employes. Kendall stressed the low salaries paid policemen and firemen. He feels councilmen and mayor's salaries are too low for the "hiring" of good men, and favors an increase.

Kendall believes the city needs better bus service and favors the hiring of a transportation adviser to survey the Lincoln system.

The president of the Lancaster County Taxpayers League feels more economy in government is one source of added revenue. He definitely is against an automobile tax and increased occupation taxes paid by utilities.

—Story Of Long Trek To Freedom Told—

Doolittle Raider Terms Russia A Land Of Misery

Lt. Col. Emmens Saw Slave Laborers Chained Together, Guarded By Dogs

EDITOR'S NOTE: Here is one of the most amazing "secret stories" of World war II, just revealed. It is the story of five U. S. air force survivors of the famed Doolittle raid on Tokyo, whose B-25 was forced down in Russia, where they were interned.

Lt. Col. Robert G. Emmens, the bomber's pilot, declares that as long ago as 1942—when Russia was America's wartime ally—he saw evidences of "slave labor" in the U.S.S.R., a hotly-debated issue before the United Nations. Among his unhappiest experiences, he tells of seeing people "chained together, dressed in rags," and guarded by dogs and soldiers.

WASHINGTON—(INS)—A survivor of Gen. Doolittle's historic Tokyo raid, interned in Russia for 13 months, has told for the first time of his 8,000 mile trek to freedom through a land without laughter and without hope.

The story of Lt. Col. Robert G. Emmens, 34, as an unwilling "guest of the Kremlin" not only fills a long-missing gap in the Doolittle raid saga, but presents the best American story of how Russians live under communist rule.

Except for the four members of his B-25 crew, Emmens is the only American who has had the relatively unrestricted opportunity of seeing Russia from Siberia's labor camps to the Iranian border, where he escaed.

Emmens paints a vivid picture of the "unhappy, despairing" Russian masses with whom he and his crew members broke stale bread in wretched hovels and of the misery he shared with them for 13 months until he bribed a Persian smuggler of humans and drugs to help him reach freedom.

The U. S. considered Emmens' knowledge of the Russian people and the language so valuable that he was sent back behind the "iron curtain" after his escape. He was air attache in Romania for three and a half years, beginning in December, 1944. He now is on secret duty with the corps in Washington.

In Russia, Emmens learned that the best way to get something done is to deal directly with Premier Stalin. Emmens did, with a letter addressed to "Mr. Iosef Stalin, Moscow."

He also heard the furtive and startling admissions of Russians who have lost hope, have forgotten how to react, have forgotten even how to laugh.

He saw groups of aged and emaciated "political prisoners" chained together, herded to and from work with dogs baying at their heels and tommygun-equipped guards marching menacingly alongside.

He saw thousands of Russians survive on a diet of thin, watery

Driving Test Bill Brings Hot Debate

Measure Is Laid Over For A Week

Tempers flared in the legislature Thursday as Sen. R. W. Hill, Hebron, sought to obtain advancement of the State Safety Council bill, LB 88, which provides that chemical tests be considered prima facie evidence in prosecutions for drunken driving.

Sen. Willard M. Wilson, Holdrege, fresh from service as Phelps county attorney, objected to the weight in law the bill gives this type of evidence.

The bill was referred to the legislature as giving legal status to "a reliable method of determining intoxication by acceptable principles of science."

Detroit Decrease Cited.

Sen. Hill in asking advancement admitted that there is considerable difference of opinion as to the constitutionality of the bill. He said you can't taake a man's blood without his written consent and said that the drunk-a-meter test would probably be more frequently used. This taking of samples of breath in a balloon was upheld in Colorado, he said, on the ground "air is free."

The Hebron senator said that after a three year test in Detroit under the proposed law, drunken driving had decreased 95 per cent.

By the question and answer method, Sen. Wilson then attempted to point out weaknesses which he contended the present bill contains. Sen. Hill was the "witness" as the "prosecutor" inquired:

"Are any qualifications required in the bill for those making the tests?"

"No."

"Are there any specifications as to what machines are to be used or qualifications of operators?"

"No."

"Who is qualified to make the tests? Do they live in Lexington or Kearney?

Three Places Qualified.

Sen. Hill then explained that he believed only three places, the University of Nebraska medical college, Creighton university and the state health department are now qualified.

"Would you provide that tests be made by only these three?"

"No."

"Have these tests ever been used as evidence in the state?"

"No."

"Have attempts to use them been made?

"Yes."

"I don't know whether to talk or just ask to have this bill indefinitely postponed," Sen. Wilson said. "The blood test is now being used in many places in the state, but county attorneys are using it intelligently. With this law, you would have no prosecution unless you had first offered a blood test.

Fear Conviction of Innocent.

"We need this law, if you want to convict the innocent. But, it could be used to free the guily with the emphasis you put on this test. It would have freed the driver in the famous "hayrack" case in Omaha, because the county attorney told me that one test

Ten Army, Civilian Heroes In Snowbound Work Honored

OMAHA—(AP)—Operation snowbound decorated 10 of its heroes today.

They included two army weasel crew chiefs, the officer who set up the O'Neill, Neb., disaster headquarters; four civilian employes of the Missouri river division corps of engineers; a Nebraska civilian mercy flier; an Omaha contractor, and a Sargent, Neb., contractor employe.

Chamberlin Presents Awards.

The awards were presented by Lt. Gen. Stephen H. Chamberlin, commanding general of the Fifth army.

General Chamberlin described the 10 as representatives of "this great force," the army team of military and civilian personnel recruited for the blizzard emergency.

"You can be proud of your accomplishments," he said. "I am sure that the people of the prairie states are grateful.

General Chamberlin pointed out that operation snowbound called upon the army team to "follow in the tradition of those who went 100 years ahead of us" to conquer the prairie states.

"Today we are called upon to come into the area to relieve distress and present economic disaster," he said.

At a press conference following the award ceremony the Fifth army commander said the army had moved as fast as it could to meet the blizzard emergency and "we promise you that we are going to finish the job before we leave."

He said full credit must go to the contractors and other civilians who are helping, to the Red Cross and to state and local agencies who are a part of the "team."

$44 Million Storm Loan Fund OK'd

...By House Committee

WASHINGTON—(INS) — The house agriculture committee today approved a bill which would make approximately 44 million dollars available for loans to farmers in storm-stricken western areas.

Rep. Cooley (D) N. C., committee chairman, announced that he would seek "immediate action on the measure in the house."

The bill makes a revolving fund of the regional agricultural credit corp. Available for loans to farmers who require emergency credit to help them recoup losses inflicted on livestock, crops and trees.

The bill was introduced by Rep. Granger (D) Utah.

Funds Available

In Nebraska, the Farmers Home Administration reported today that approximately $250,000 has already been made available to farmers in need of loans because of losses inflicted on livestock and crops by the series of winter storms.

Brewster Suggests Aid Cut-Off

If European Nations Ignore U.N. 'Requests'

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Sen. Brewster (R-Me) asked congress today to cut off all recovery money from any European nation which refuses to obey "orders or requests" of the United Nations security council.

Offering a bill to amend the economic co-operation administration act, Brewster told the senate foreign relations committee such a restriction "would have helped materially in the Palestine and Indonesian situations."

He said the measure would be useful in the future if any nation should refuse to obey security council orders.

This is another move by Brewster and other republican senators to force a showdown on the Netherlands military activities in the Dutch East Indies.

Cold Weather To End State Flood Threat

Melting Causes River To Rise; 55 At Hays Center

The weather had Nebraskans in a dilemma Thursday.

Temperatures had them ready to shed their coats while the weatherman warned them to dig out their ear muffs for Friday.

It was Nebraska's weather at its craziest.

Snow Forecast.

Temperatures pushed into the 50s causing new flood threats as melting snow sent rivers and creeks rising.

But the warm weather and the threats of flooding in this region are expected to be short lived with the weatherman forecasting colder weather, strong winds, and snow for the entire state Friday.

Low temperatures of five to 10 above for northwest and middle 30s southeast were predicted for tonight. With highs of 45 in the southeast and 10 above in the northwest scheduled for Friday.

The forecasted change in the weather was made as the mercury zoomed to 55 at Hays Center shortly after 1 p. m. today. That temperature and others in the Nebraska area were high enough to cause the weather bureau, in a special advisory, to report "thawing in Nebraska and Iowa today will produce some melt runoff and make small sterams rise to near bankful."

Southeast Has River Alert.

"Some flooding may occur on small streams and back water from the ice jams," the Lincoln bureau said. However, it was pointed out that colder weather expected in eastern Nebraska by Friday night would avert much of the danger.

Meanwhile, a river alert for southeastern Nebraska residents along the Missouri was sounded by the U. S. weather bureau forecast center at Kansas City. The bureau reported that minor flooding might come from today's melting.

The warm before the cold over the state sent the temperatures climbing to the highest marks of 1949. It was 51 at Sidney, 48 at Scottsbluff and 42 in Lincoln at 1 p. m. Skies were clear except in the west where it was partly cloudy with a 23 mile an hour wind sweeping the Scottsbluff area.

The weatherman said melting in the east half of the state would continue tonight as temperatures are expected to stay in the thirties.

Student UNESCO Conference Is Termed Inspiring Educational Demonstration

University of Nebraska students and their "working model" of an international conference had at least two world scholars in a state of happy amazement Thursday.

Both Archibald MacLeish, former U. S. assistant secretary of state, and Dr. Albert Rosenthal of Denver, who served with two U. S. UNESCO delegations, are convinced the Cornhusker UNESCO sessions now under way at the coliseum are unique and valuable.

Before leaving Lincoln Wednesday evening at the conclusion of an address to the opening session of the student UNESCO conference, MacLeish called Chancellor R. G. Gustavson aside.

Original Student Idea.

"Now tell me," MacLeish said, "this whole program has been rehearsed, hasn't it?"

Chancellor Gustavson explained that the conference is an original student idea—planned and staged by students with little faculty assistance.

MacLeish termed it "a most inspiring demonstration in international education."

Aid To State Department.

Dr. Rosenthal thinks University of Nebraska students have hit upon a fine method of teaching international relations. "Certainly," he said, "this experiment in Nebraska should be of real value to people in the department of state who are searching for ways to teach international relations."

Dr. Rosenthal, an authority in the field of international relations, is now director of the school of public administration for the University of Denver. Besides his work in UNESCO — the educational, scientific, and cultural arm of tht United Nations—Dr. Rosenthal attended the formulative session of the U. N. itself at San Francisco as an observer for the navy. He is acting as consultant to the Nebraska student conference.

MISS CONSTANCE ROACH, Washington, D. C., organization representative on the UNESCO staff, spoke on "Functions of United States National Commission for UNESCO" at the Thursday afternoon session on the University of Nebraska campus.

Dr. Rosenthal said the initial work session of the conference Wednesday evening was so realistic "that I had to remind myself a few times that this was a working model and not the real thing." A principal topic of debate was whether UNESCO should launch an international program to improve the working conditions of labor throughout the world.

Pageant Featured.

"It was important," Dr. Rosenthal said, "that the conference decided to stay out of that field on the ground that agencies other than UNESCO are already working on the job. It shows Nebraska students know their international organizations."

Dr. Frank E. Sorenson, university staff member who has been a background adviser to the UNESCO student group, said the following students were among those who first broached him on the working model plan: Robert Nicholls and Neva Huttner of Lincoln; Shirley Quisenberry, Jamaica, N. Y.; Susan Allen, Pierce; Gerald Young, Lexington; Marsha Tepperman, Omaha; Audrey Rosenbuam, Chicago, and Phyllis Cadwallader of Kearney.

A feature of the Thursday evening program at the coliseum will be an international pageant staged by 275 students. It will include international selections by the University Symphony orchestra, the University Singers and the Madrigal Singers, and a one-act satire. The pageant will be held following the conference session, which opens at 7 p.m. and 3 p. m. Thursday the conference heard an address by Miss Constance Roach, Washington, D. C., organization representative of the UNESCO

Cities Need U. S. Help In Housing

SPOKESMEN FOR CONFERENCE OF MAYORS SAY THEY CAN'T SOLVE THEIR PROBLEM ALONE

WASHINGTON —(AP)—Housing needs of low-income families can be met only with federal help, spokesmen for the U. S. conference of mayors told a senate banking subcommittee today.

Mayor William O'Dwyer of New York City said that although the city has undertaken a record building program since the war, it needs federal help "to make any real headway in solving" its housing problem.

Similar expressions came from Mayors Vincent V. Murphy of Newark, N. J., and Frank P. Zeidler of Milwaukee.

A batch of housing bills is being studied by the committee. Some provide for federal aid for low-cost public housing, slum clearance and rural housing; others for stimulating private construction through credit guarantees and mortgage insurance.

An administration measure calls for building 1,050,000 low-cost public dwelling units in the next seven years.

Ethel Bryant Asked To Aid NEA Meeting

Miss Ethel Bryant, Lincoln high school English teacher, has been asked to ai din a National Educational association conference on extra-curricular school activities. The invitation came from Frank W. Hubbard, Washington, D. C., research director.

The conference will ready recommendations for better handling of those activities. Money for the programs in school budgets will also be considered.

Senator Wilson said that in a test he took in checking on the accuracy of tests on a diet of Swedish coffee the test showed him with a .11 alcohol content in his blood. Wilson said he does not defend drunken driving, but from his experience he wants evidence considered on an equal basis and no preference for special tests.

He agreed that the three testing places mentioned were all qualified and probably would be accurate. But, he said, you can't have these men "paddy-caking all over the state" and they must appear in person to testify.

Penalty Too High.

"You should not give extra weight to this type of evidence," he insisted. "You raised the penalty on drunken driving at the request of the Safety Council two years ago and the number of drunken driving convictions decreased. You put it too high.

"You should have increased the pay of county judges and attracted better men."

Sen. Wilson then asked unanimous consent to lay the bill over a week to permit drafting of amendments.

Sen. Hill objected, stating that the proposed law had been passed in several other states and probably they had legal ability to equal that of Sen. Wilson.

Wilson flared and moved that the bill be indefinitely postponed. Colleagues talking to him soon brought him to his feet with the remark that he probably had been too hasty and he moved to have the bill laid over for a week. His motion was adopted.

Sen. Don Hanna then arose to a point of personal privilege. In a prepared statement he apologized for remarks he made during debate last week on the proposed repeal of the pre-primary law. He withdrew statements reflecting on opponents of the bill.

LB 79 providing educational advantages for crippled children was advanced on general fi le with only the dissenting vote of Sen. John Adams of Omaha. He sought to delay action.

Sen. Wilson, pointing out that 300 need the attention, said the bill already was being presented 20 years too late and should not be delayed a single day.

Other bills advanced on general file were:

LB 138, having counties maintain roads built jointly by them and the federal government where they do not meet state standards.

LB 141, provides methods of recovering cost of treating mentally ill.

LB 94, restricts weight of trucks on highways when roads are soft.

LB 259 ,proposes increase from 5 cents to 6 cents per mile when state employes use personal cars on business. The original request in the bill by Sen. Thomas Adams was for 8 cents with an escalator clause. It was amended by the committee. Purchase of new cars by the state would be necessary, the committee was told, if the increase was not given because employes refuse to drive personal cars.

LB 285, Provides methods of keeping books on university cash funds.

LB 65, provides for disposal of unexpended balances of school districts taken over by defense plants.

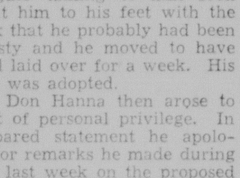

LB 190, amends adoption laws.

City Council Seat Sought By Forest Hutson

Belmont Grocer Favors Expansion In Suburbs

Forest P. Hutson, 1144 Belmont, filed for city council Thursday morning. The 41-year-old grocer and food locker operator has lived in Belmont all his life.

"The northwest section of Lincoln has not been represented on the council for many years and should be represented, Hutson said.

The city should be divided into sections so all parts could be represented in the council he asserted.

Encourage Homebuilding.

Hutson would have the city go "all out" to encourage new industry and to encourage construction of low cost homes "which could be purchased by working men on a low down payment.

"Homeowners are better citizens," he said.

Taking major city problems to the people, as is now being done, is a good plan, Hutson said. He also would encourage city planning, "especially in the suburbs, where there has been and should be much expansion."

soup and black bread; "filthy dirty," living in mud huts with dirt floors and little, poor, or no plumbing.

Until now, of the 80 men who took off from the carrier Hornet in B-25s April 18, 1942, to bomb Tokyo all had been accounted for —except the five who landed in Russia.

Emmens recounted that the B-25 of which he was co-pilot was scheduled to land in China—they were cautioned not to land in Russia—but their gas supply ran low, and they landed in a Russian training field 40 miles from Vladivostok.

Members of a Soviet naval garrison kept them overnight, and then a Russian plane took them 400 miles north to Khabarovsk, an industrial city with 1,500,000 population. Emmens said:

"We were notified there by the commanding general of the Far Eastern red army, Gen. Stern, that the governments of Russia and the United States had decided that we should be interned until further notice — under international law.

"We gathered that the Russians, who had a non-aggression pact with the Japs, didn't want to arouse the Japs by turning us loose."

Emmens said he and the other four were taken to the outskirts of the city and, guarded by five red army soldiers, were lodged in a Soviet army recuperation center. They were imprisoned there 10 days.

"We were treated quite good," Emmens said. "The food was good."

But after that, with one notable exception, the food wasn't so good, and neither was much else about their enforced stay.

Locked in a car with guards, the five men were transferred to the small town of Okhuna after a 21-day ride on the trans-Siberian railroad. There they spent two and one-half months under guard before being shipped by train and boat northward to Okhansk.

The close supervision eased up then, and Emmens for eight months saw life lived in a Russian town of 250 people. He said:

An Unhappy People.

"They were the most unhappy, most despairing lot of people we had ever seen in our lives, with the largest percentage of illiteracy I have ever observed and an extremely low standard of living.

"We saw two groups of political prisoners chained together, dressed in rags. In Okhuna, we used to see a group of old women, ragged and emaciated, guarded by soldiers and dogs, led one way in the morning and back at night—apparently to work and back."

On Jan. 6 1943, Emmens and his crew wrote a letter to "Mr. Iosef (the American equivalent of the Russian) Stalin, Moscow. They asked to be released or put to work and moved to a warmer climate. That day there were four feet of snow outside and the mercury was below zero.

Stalin's reply was to ship them to the worst living conditions they had ever had.

"We lived in a mud house, on army cots with no mattresses. Even the red officers who accompanied us there were shocked.

But while working in a civilian aircraft factory they were freer than they had been and had the chance to really live with the Russians.

Emmens learned, he said, that there was "very definite resentment towards the Soviet regime—and a feeling of unhappiness. The people had lost their ability to react normally; they didnt laugh.

Emmens was 50 miles from the Iranian border then, close enough to escape. They said the smuggler $300 to carry them to freedom.

Of his later service in Romania Emmens said:

"I found substantially what I had expected to find in a Russian-dominated country.

"By slow strangulation, the Russians are trying to bring Romania down to their own level.

"It once was a pretty country. But its not any more.

Emmens now lives with his wife, two sons and a daughter in Arlington, Va. His mother, Mrs. J. J. Emmens, lives in Medford, Ore.

Prevention Of Delinquency Begins In Home

Ludwig Tells Chamber Women: Problem Is Becoming Serious

Juvenile delinquency can best be combated through co-operation with the home, Prof. Frederick J. Ludwig of the University of Nebraska law college said Wednesday night.

The former New York City police lieutenant addressed a meeting of the women's division of the chamber of commerce.

The problem of juvenile delinquency is becoming more and more serious, he declared. "For the first time in history we have in our courts 12-year-old rapists, 9-year-old robbers and 11-year-old forgers," he added.

Solution Is Combined Effort.

"Never before have so many little children committed brutal assaults on their own parents and companies," he said.

Juvenile delinquents cannot be prosecuted as adult criminals, he said, so law enforcement officers, sociologists, criminologists and psychologists are combining efforts to solve the problem.

One system of correction which has been used with "remarkable success" in New York is to prove a "constructive motivation" so the child will not engage in "socially undesirable behavior in the future."

Home Is Answer.

The method, he explained, defers prosecution of an offense until the child has proven himself bad by committing another offense.

But, he emphasized, the answer lies in the home where juvenile crime is concerned.

"Of the numerous environment factors typically associated with juvenile delinquency, it is true that none occurs with greater frequency than the deficient home," he added.

"The estimates vary, but from 40 to 70 per cent of delinquents come from broken homes where death, desertion, divorce, or separation of parents have disrupted the family."

Child Needs Freedom.

"For a child, the best home will give him security and affection but will leave him free to guide himself insofar as he can. He is to be a member of the family team."

"In the crucial years of adolescence, roughly between the ages of 12 and 20, he said, the parents should:

1. Let the child grow up, and, insofar as possible, let him handle his own affairs.

2. Provide a home in which they themselves are "properly adjusted to society."

3. Provide a home in which a child can feel secure.

4. Be frjends and models to their children.

Special guests at the monthly dinner meeting were Judge and Mrs. Edward Fisher and Mr. and Mrs. Giles Henkle. Henkle is senior board adviser to the women's division.

Christian Way To Overcome Tyranny Told

...By Detroit Pastor

Three Christian ways of overcoming tyranny as practiced and outlined by Jesus Christ, were explained to 800 Nebraska Wesleyan university students and faculty members Thursday by Dr. Henry Hitt Crane.

Addressing the third general convocation in connection with Religious Emphasis week activities on the campus, the Detroit pastor outlined them as:

1. Learning to receive what comes, whether it be good or bad, and not to reject it.

2. Learning to respond and not to react.

3. Learning to rejoice in whatever comes and not to revel.

'React' Defined.

"A Christian never gives in, he accepts, he receives," Dr. Crane told his audience. "Christ accepted the cross with the idea that he would take it and make from it the most glorious example ever given man.

"A Christian will take difficulty and transform it into something good," he added.

Referring to the second point, Dr. Crane defined the term 'react' as something "instinctive or animal—the element that causes one to turn and fight when struck."

"By respond I mean the development of those faculties of human facility which are above the animal level, using the divine act of overcoming evil by giving good," the speaker declared.

"When you are doing this," he added, "forgetting the material body and considering the spirit, then you are responding."

Last Address Tonight.

Speaking of his third point, Dr. Crane declared:

"The spirit with which a thing is received makes it good or reduces it to naught. If you do a thing bitterly and with self pity, the whole thing is spoiled. But if you will rejoice, you can win the only victory that will bring peace to the world."

Dorothy Blough, Lincoln junior, served as student chairman at the session. She announced that Friday's service, which is open to the public, will be held at 9 o'clock rather than 10 as earlier scheduled.

Dr. Crane will complete this service of evening addresses at the Plainsman theater Thursday at 7:15 p. m. These meetings are also open to the public.

Farmers Warned To Stock-Up This Time Because Of Thaws

After a tour of Boone, Madison and Platte counties Wednesday, State Maintenance Engineer John McMeekin Thursday again stressed the necessity of persons in the area stocking up on supplies before a heavy thaw begins.

"Gravel roads will become impassable as soon as it begins thawing," McMeekin said. "Water standing on the roads is completely saturating the sub-grades, and there is very little that can be done."

McMeekin also advised truckers driving in the snowbelt to use chains because of icy road surfaces.

Only 35 or 40 miles of state maintained road were still blocked by snow Tuesday morning. Still blocked were:

No. 32 between Madison and Newman Grove.

No. 94 west of Walthill.

Spur roads south of Meadow Grove and Tilden.

'Bold New Program' Readied

Truman Plan For Backward Areas Goes To U.N. Soon

LAKE SUCCESS — (AP)—The United States will be ready early next week to give the United Nations a broad general picture of President Truman's "bold new program" to aid backward areas.

This was disclosed today by an American delegation spokesman. He said Assistant Secretary of State Willard L. Thorp now is in Washington drafting a speech which will amplify the program for the economic and social council.

Informed quarters said no concrete program has yet taken shape. But Thorp definitely will give the council a "preliminary" outline of what Mr. Truman had in mind.

These quarters said Thorp may cover such questions as what the U.N. can do in the field of technical assistance to under-developed areas, what individual governments can do and possibly what private industry can do to give financial aid.

It was understood that Thorp would make no commitments as to just how far the United States is prepared to go, either in providing technical assistance or financial backing.

The financing of the program, it was pointed out, must be approved by congress and for this reason no specific expenditures can be proposed at this time.

Thorp will address the council Monday on the world economic situation and will deliver his speech on the president's program later in the week when the council begins general debate on the questions of economic development and technical assistance to backward areas.

Field Wide Open

It will not be long, now, before the people are engaged in another municipal campaign to select members for the city council, the governing body.

Mayor Clarence Miles has announced that he will not be a candidate for re-election. Of the other seats to be filled on the council, Councilman Lester Dunn, and Councilman Joe Iverson also have announced they do not plan to continue in public service, both of whom have given a number of years to the affairs of the state. It is understandable. It takes time away from one's business, a great deal of time if one is to do the job, and under the prevailing form of city government—the council the administrative body, the details of applying formulative policy left to three dictators—there is a very considerable sacrifice involved in a job any man can anticipate will bring few thanks and a lot of criticism.

But the success of the seven-man council plan depends upon the willingness of able and competent citizens, men free from political ambition, men imbued with a strong sense of civic responsibility for leadership, to give generously of themselves. It has become increasingly difficult to interest those men who have a great deal upon their shoulders in their own affairs to take on additional burdens.

The city needs a strong council for the next two years. Much of the time in the last decade there was not a great deal that could be done in the war emergency about those things that interest us right here at home. Materials were short, labor scarce, finances pinched, and a community that has experienced a gratifying growth, along with all other communities, could only mark time. These next two years will call for closer examination and for leadership in tasks that necessarily have been postponed. The time is not too long before primary filings will have been completed and city government will move into the stages of the final election. It is to be assumed that a great many people are giving some thought to the administration of their local affairs.

Help On The Way

Rep. Karl Stefan of the Third Nebraska district had a most homey, human note in his current letter to the weekly press of his district. He was telling of the visit of six Nebraskans to a New York meeting. The heftiest tipped the scales at 318 pounds, the lightest weighed a mere 250. Five of the six came from Mr. Stefan's own home district, where they raise lots of corn and pork, and that choicest of all foods, prime cornfed beef. With Nebraska groping to regain its former place in the sun in football, here's good news for Bill Glassford. We'll draft all six for the center of the line. They may go around it but they'll not go through it.

According To Plan

Across the river to the east the state of Iowa is observing a session of its legislature, noting that after the first few days it has become a rat-race, and the members of the Iowa assembly are bemoaning the difficulty of passing any good laws. The Des Moines Register, published a short distance from the hall where the legislature is gathering, suggests a legislative council "along the lines of those now operating with conspicuous success in such states as Kansas and Nebraska." The legislative council may not succeed in finding all the answers to knotty state problems but at least it does insure substantial research and study in advance of the meeting days.

A Job, Well Done

A curious, challenging figure, Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon, at arm's length frequently with his fellow republicans in the United States senate because of his outspoken views which clash with orthodox party policy, a man of great promise, yet seemingly falling short of the stature of greatness in statesmanship because of petty outbursts.

In Washington, favored as it has been by one of its mildest winters on record, free of ice, snow and cold, basking in spring-like temperatures that have beckoned to the swelling buds weeks ahead of their normal appearance, and that have flirted with the early flowers, Senator Morse jumped upon Gen. Lewis A. Pick, who has been working on a schedule around the clock in getting done the rough job of opening highways, salvaging livestock, and rescuing snowbound families running low on the barest necessities of life. It has not taken General Pick long to get things moving in a number of mountain and plain states. The fact is he has performed a near miracle. Each day has seen remarkable progress, and in hard-hit Nebraska, one of the heaviest storm sufferers, General Pick's organization has just about chased the story of snowbound areas out of the headlines, the news columns, and off the front page.

Had Senator Morse been here where it was happening instead of Washington where he aired his views the chances are he never would have opened his mouth. But he did, and his criticism reflects no credit upon him. Hundreds of thousands of people in Nebraska, the Dakotas, Wyoming, Nevada, Utah, and Montana, we are quite sure, are deeply grateful to a magnificent administrator for a job well done, amazingly well done, in an incredibly short period of time, against insuperable obstacles, continuing gales, continuing snows, a demonstration of winter that rarely has been equalled in this region.

Men in public service naturally do not expect praise for the good that they do. They anticipate criticism for the mistakes that they make, if they make them, mistakes that are bound to occur in any great undertaking. Outwardly General Pick in this battle against the snows has made no mistakes that the people of the affected regions recognize. They have only the highest praise for him. Until he took hold, with all the resources back of him, the struggle was a futile one. The moment that he took hold everything changed overnight. It is not entirely clear why Senator Morse saw fit to pick upon General Pick but out here where people know a job when they see it there is nothing but praise for what he has done, along with a deep sense of gratitude.

Less Than Frank

Roscoe Drummond, of The Christian Science Monitor, adds his voice to the present bedlam inspired by Governor Dewey's Lincoln Day speech, in this:

". . . While Governor Dewey is frank to say that the republican party is split wide open, he is less than frank when he says that the republican opponents of these measures (New Deal me-too platform pledges) are a very small percentage of the republican party, though they seem to make all the noise. This is misleading. If the governor really wants to get his party's problem right out in the open as he says he does, he will have to face the fact that the republican 80th congress and its supplementary special session had ample time to act upon most of these declared principles, neglected 80 per cent of them, specific efforts by republicans to pass social welfare legislation met insuperable republican opposition."

That is only a matter of the record.

Mr. Dewey seems to have stirred up the animals in many matters. One of the favorite party arguments is waste—tax and spend. Mr. Dewey used it himself. The Wall Street Journal was mean enough to note Governor Dewey's recent state budget called for an increase of more than 66 per cent in tax revenues. It wants him to discuss that, which admittedly would present a headache in any man's language critical of taxing and spending.

Why not settle all of this by a frank confession that the burdens of administration in any modern system of government are more complex and more costly than they were in the good old days, long gone, and gone forever.

CLARK'S SILVERY LINING

Nebraska's John D. "Jack" Clark was a lone voice in the wilderness in the news of recent days. The former dean of the School of Business Administration of the University of Nebraska expressed the belief that inflationary tendencies in the United States had not run their full course, in late spring again would put in an appearance. A distinguished economist, one of Mr. Truman's economic advisers, one of a board of three which does not seem to be in complete agreement, Dr. Clark offered the country something new, something refreshing at least in the assurance that it had not spent itself, and was racing headlong into a recession, a depression, or in the extreme, one whale of a "bust."

The public may have difficulty in deciding whether it dislikes inflation, comparatively high prices more or less than it does an inevitable mounting unemployment, and slackened business. The public is pretty sure that it does not want any appreciable slackening of activity, any lessening of the opportunities which more than 60 million jobs have provided for the workers and their families. For weeks the news columns have been filled with reports of a declining volume of commercial and industrial activity, with increasing emphasis upon the familiar, accompanying symptoms.

Dr. Clark did not go into detail as to why he anticipated another "big year" in the United States but he could have done so easily. Just one: in the prevailing conditions of winter over much of the country since mid-November outside activities in all construction lines have been curtailed or completely curbed. It was inevitable that this would reflect itself in a temporary unemployment. Orders for materials were delayed in the absence of conditions permitting their early use, and the mounting supplies were reflected in the fact that shipping instructions were temporarily cancelled. When cold and snow abate and it becomes possible to go ahead outside again, it appears reasonable to anticipate a healthy growth in job opportunities.

What appears to be a conscious endeavor is the attempt to achieve a certain stability. It is not uncommon to hear the opinion expressed that what we need is a recession, or a depression, or whatever name is applied to a period of curtailed activity, but for some years to come we shall be hard put to maintain the economic level so essential to national welfare. Dr. Clark is one who seems to feel that the fears expressed that a depression has caught up with us are groundless, and if we have to torment ourselves in an admittedly difficult period, we should be anticipating a continuance of inflationary tendencies. That will not qualify for any silvery lining to the skies but if a choice has to be made, and if the people have anything to do with the shaping of that choice, we could be much worse off than we have been in recent years. The ideal would be a high volume for business and industry without any sharp deviation in either direction.

Since 1940, the great events of war years, the "cold war" of the post-war years, the transition of a global sweep, Americans truly have had so little time to think of their own country, the changes that have taken place, the added strength, the new vitality, the tremendous resources that 10 years of effort have produced. That inward glance at the United States is most satisfying. Population has jumped by leaps and bounds; in 1940 the official census gave us over 130 millions and in 1950, on the basis of present-day estimates, America will have an approximate 150 millions. More mouths to feed, more hands to create new wealth, more markets for all that we produce, more willing workers to perform the tasks that have to be completed. In much of the new territory of comparatively recent settlement, new development of the inherent resources that were there adds a gloss that is satisfying. A greater industrial plant, a greater agriculture, a greater people, and a greater force in the world —this is the record of 10 unweighed years for which we have had so little time which our own fears tend to obstruct.

WASHINGTON—It was kept very hush-hush, but Norwegian Foreign Minister Halvard Lange had a very significant secret luncheon with a group of congressional leaders in House Speaker Sam Rayburn's office just before he returned to Oslo.

At the luncheon, the Norwegian diplomat shrewdly let his hair down to tell American congressional leaders his nation's troubles resulting from its willingness to join the dynamite-laden Atlantic defense pact. Norway has been under terrific pressure from the Russians not to join with the Western powers in a mutual-defense agreement.

A VERY hush-hush meeting between Norwegian Foreign Minister Halvard Lange and a group of congressional leaders was held in Speaker Sam Rayburn's office, Pearson says, with resulting frank talk. Among those attending was Appropriations Committee Chairman Clarence Cannon (above). Lange, reflecting sure knowledge of American legislative processes, received reassurance.

Lange told the congressmen who met with him that Norway was not worried about whether or not to throw in its lot with the West. Rather, Lange said, the thing that concerned the Norwegians, as well as the Danes, was what would happen in the event Russia began massing troops near the Norwegian border during the period while congress debated and before American aid became effective. Lange showed a brilliant knowledge of the American legislative process.

He estimated it might be five months before American aid reached Norway in quantity. It was this lag, the foreign minister said, that was causing the Norwegians so much concern.

House Speaker Sam Rayburn and Majority Leader John McCormack of Massachusetts both expressed the conviction that America would back Norway to the hilt. But both also warned him that the American legislative processes would have to be followed before the aid could be sent. They assured him, however, that if the Russians began threatening Norway, congress would only act more swiftly.

Upshot of the luncheon, which was also attended by Appropriations Committee Chairman Clarence Cannon of Missouri, Foreign Relations Committee Chairman Sol Bloom of New York, Senator Magnuson and Congressman Mitchell, both of Washington, was that Lange's determination to stick with the West was stiffened.

NOTE: The luncheon for the Norwegian foreign minister was arranged by his old friend, Congressman Henry M. Jackson of Washington.

President Truman is still getting a kick out of the mistake the pollsters, predicters and the newspapers made in the last election. He particularly enjoyed the recent book by Morris Ernst—"The People Know Best"—which dissects the mistakes of the press in the late campaign.

"If you hadn't written this book, I'd have written it myself," Truman told Ernst, when the latter called at the White House the other day. "It just had to be done."

Truman indicated he had read every word of the book and thoroughly enjoyed the way the press and the predicters were taken apart.

"Herbert Hoover," remarked Truman, "told me he had handed out autographs all his life but never asked for one. But I'm one president who is going to ask for an autograph. I want yours."

Truman handed a copy of Ernst's book back to him while Ernst inscribed it.

Here is the inside story on why Franco Spain after so many years in the state department's doghouse has now been able to get a $25,000,000 loan from the Chase National bank.

The man behind this loan is Paul Culbertson, American, charge d'affaires in Madrid. He succeeded in convincing the state department that it is absolutely essential to give Franco some kind of economic help or else he will refuse to co-operate in the allied plans for defending western Europe. Culbertson sent scores of telegrams warning that Franco was heading for serious trouble unless he got dollars somewhere to buy American machinery and equipment needed to keep his factories running.

The problem stumped the state department for a while, because it could not risk giving Spain an American government loan without arousing a loud protest from many Americans who consider Franco very much a dictator. Finally it was decided to pass the word quietly to the Chase National bank that it was all right to give Franco a loan. Chase National jumped at the chance, because it's a good business deal that may lead to more loans of this kind.

The state department, meanwhile, is sitting back to watch how Franco spends this first loan so it can decide whether to open up the U. S. export-import bank to him for further help. Needless to say, Paul Culbertson is now aces high with Dictator Franco for making all this possible.

Sam Reyber, the American representative at the discussions for an Austrian peace treaty, wants to come back home. Reyber has reported to the state department that, with the conference only three days old, it's already quite clear the Russians have no intention whatsoever of coming to an agreement on Austria.

Therefore, Reyber has suggested that rather than waste time further, he let an understudy take over his position at the conference while he comes back to Washington to do some real work. The state department, however, is still convinced that the Austrian negotiations by the Big Four deputies to the foreign ministers now going on in London will result in enough concessions by the Russians to warrant a Big Four meeting in New York in April. Actually, the state department is convinced the Russians want to pit Molotov against Acheson to try out our new secretary of state for size, weight, height and reach.

President Truman has been holding some highly important off-the-record meetings with business leaders because of his concern about a possible depression. The second meeting took place at Blair House secretly last Thursday and those present included Ward Canaday, head of the Willys-Overland, the motorcar company; Frank Baer, vice president of the Bank of America; Joe Love, president of Burlington Mills, and Vice President Alben Barkley.

Henry Ford II was invited but was prevented from coming by bad flying weather. Grave concern was expressed over federal reserve limitations on installment buying which, it was said, were threatening increased unemployment.

The industrialists told the president and Barkley that the one element blocking continued production is the federal reserve board's limit on installment buying.

Canaday of Willys and Baer of the Bank of America pointed out that drastic cutbacks in auto production would mean a real softening of the entire steel market, including the shutdown of some marginal mills. Truman and Barkley seemed impressed by what they heard, promised to take the regulation up with Federal Reserve Board Chairman Thomas B. McCabe.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

NEEDS AND DESIRES

For food and drink and winter's fire,
And for the body's warm attire,
We spend our time and strength in strife.
But is all there is to life?

Is there not something more to gain
Than shelter from the wind and rain?
Beyond the care the flesh requires
Is there not more than man desires?

Why the gay hours in friendship spent?
Why flowers unto the sick-room sent
Why the kept word till life shall close,
Unless to win what love bestows?

If gaining food and fire were all,
Why books and every garden small
Why pride, esteem and honor seek?
Unless without these life were bleak?

WHY THE DELAY?

Falls City, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Why has the legislature delayed the advancement of the repeal of the pre-primary convention law? Won't this give the supermen of the smoke-filled rooms time to maneuver, lobby and reconstruct the law in a form as bad, or worse than it now is?

CARE OF POLIO VICTIMS.

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Your paper has been more than generous in the splendid publicity given the March of Dimes campaign. Without such publicity it would have been impossible to raise the amount of money that was contributed. Now many people afflicted with polio will secure proper treatment and a further contribution to medical research can be made. Eventually a cure and immunity will be discovered but until such time much funds are needed. We appreciate the space given and the co-operation of the members of your paper to make the March of Dimes campaign the success that it was.

Chairman, Lancaster County March of Dimes Campaign.

HE WANTS A HOUSE CLEANING.

Seward, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Just a few lines to express my emotion. I heard over the radio last night that congressmen want $50,000 tax exemption. How do they think a poor working man can get along on a measly $600 exemption, if they need so much? We have to pay them that money out of our savings and go without what we really need. I thought we were to have less taxes. That is what they promised us. Even our officeholders in Nebraska think they must have more pay. After all they knew before they ran for office what their pay would be and how many promises they made before election and how many are they keeping? Just where do they think all this money will come from? The farmers' prices are down to half what they were a year ago. I think they too should have a cut instead of a raise. Another thing, they are wanting to put a sales tax on things so the poor man with a family has to carry the biggest burden and the rich get by the cheapest shows that the people voted in the wrong men again, and I helped them. We better clean house again and see what we can get next time.

ON SAVING LIVES

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Who, among you, has not been directly or indirectly affected by the results of an accident? Few of us, if any, have escaped. Each day of the year some one falls victim of an accident. All of us are subject to the possibility for accidents occur at home, on the job, on the highways and streets, on the farm, at play. Adults and children—all are potential accident victims.

All of us are concerned with the conservation of manpower. Manpower, after all, is our most valued natural asset. Without it the full use of all others would not be possible. It is with the problem of manpower conservation, for the welfare of our community, that safety is concerned.

All of us are "economic victims" of accidents. Each American family pays, indirectly, through increased prices, an annual amount of $200. Add to that our own "individual expense" when the accident strikes home. Surely, there are few investments that yield the benefits that an investment in safety will and does accomplish.

The Lincoln-Lancaster Safety Council is an agency designed for and dedicated to the humanitar-

WASHINGTON CALLING

MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON—Both heat and light, with considerably more of the former, are being generated as the senate hearings on new labor legislation continue in their third week. This is a forecast of the debate to come on the senate floor, which promises to be long drawn out and full of rancor.

Marquis Childs

The prospect is that the final bill may be really satisfactory to no one and especially not to organized labor. Granted that organized labor was at fault at the outset in trying to make the senate jump through the labor hoop like an obedient trained seal, this will not be a healthy situation. Out of it could come strikes and widespread labor unrest.

But sensible and knowledgeable men continue to search for a reasonable solution. Between the emotional poles of Senator Taft on the one hand and Senators Murray and Neely on the other hand is a wide area of agreement.

A majority of the senate would be likely to favor repeal of the Taft-Hartley act if there could be substituted for it an improved Wagner act. Under the "improvements" both unions and employers would be required to bargain in good faith. Secondary boycotts and jurisdictional strikes would be prohibited as unfair labor practices.

Unions would be required to file and publish financial statements and by-laws. The conciliation service would be retained as an independent agency.

The chief obstacles to agreement are the closed-shop provision and the issue of whether the Federal courts shall have the power through injunction to stop strikes that threaten the national welfare. On these two points most of the heat is generated.

From Joseph Kovner, a specialist in labor law, comes what seems to me a reasonable proposal to bridge the dissension over these two points. He suggests that a commission of experts be appointed now by congress to study and make recommendations within six months on the main points of dispute.

The commission would consider the closed shop and other forms of compulsory union membership to determine what regulations, if any, should be included in law to insure the rights of the individual worker. It would also study possible controls to be applied when strikes seem about to endanger the safety or health of the nation.

During the six months the experts could go into every phase of these touchy issues and with particular reference to the actual practices and habits of management and labor. Their recommendations would carry much weight with congress.

Such a commission would not necessarily consist of experts already tagged as on the side of either management or labor. In universities and research institutions an enormous amount of more or less objective study has gone into labor-management relations. Thus Mr. Kovner, formerly assistant general counsel to the CIO, was one of a group that spent three years in a study of labor organization financed by Johns Hopkins university. That study has not yet been published.

Congress would not wait for the commission's recommendations to repeal the T-H act and adopt a modified version of the old Wagner law authorizing the closed shop and without the right to enjoin strikes in the courts. Leaders of organized labor would feel that they were under close public scrutiny during this period and they would be unlikely to take advantage of the repeal of Taft-Hartley controls.

Senator Ives of New York and Senator Morse of Oregon, who are seeking a middle-ground solution, could profitably consider another constructive suggestion. Unions and employers would be required to give 60 days' notice of the termination of labor agreements to the federal conciliation service. The law would provide for emergency mediation boards to act before the end of the agreement and not after it had ended and a strike was imminent.

The final outcome can be a dogfight with everyone disgruntled and unhappy except, perhaps, a few republicans who might think that this was the way to discredit the democrats. Or a reasonable law can be adopted by the congress.

Many of the letters that have come to us, in this office, during the few days of real winter have been about the weather. Some of the readers have made pen pictures of silvered trees after a sleet storm, others have described the falling snow with a sense of beauty in their souls and still others have referred to biting cold and dull rains.

Miss Schrag's Letter.

Out in Nebraska, Miss Schrag writes while the snow falls and says in her letter, "Here I come down the writing trail to greet you on this snowy, winter afternoon. It is indeed very cold and snowy here. The little snowflakes are dancing down very fast on the gusty high winds. That is how the outside world looks from my kitchen window. Inside, you would say, 'some one is baking bread. The aroma tells me so.' You'd have to go a long way to beat the old time freshly baked bread and the freshly churned country butter."

Onion Window Wiper.

You have seen many a man out doors with a scraper of some sort, picking ice from a frozen windshield. So did Mrs. Mertie Shutt and she telephoned me and said, "For goodness sake, do tell folks that on cold driving days, when windshield begins to show signs of freezing, to cut an onion crosswise and wipe the windshield with it. I have tried the method and know that it works." Another reader suggests a cross cut potato. So, we suggest that folks driving a car in cold weather to be prepared with the groceries.

Wash Day News.

And while we are on the subject of cold weather news, let me tell the tales of the laundress that insists on bleaching white clothes in the freezing air and on the icy clothes line. Heated pins, hot water bottle in basket for hand comfort white woolen gloves as in my case, mean an exhilarating wash day after all.

Party Dessert.

Mrs. John English of South Wilmington, Ill. gives us a recipe for a colorful dessert, and at this time of year color at a party table is of great importance. Rice takes on a new attitude for appetites when it is glorified. Let us make glorified rice according to the directions of Mrs. English.

Drain one pint can of crushed pineapple, dissolve one package of any colorful jello, any flavor, in one cup of boiling water and add one cup of pineapple juice, drained from the can of pineapple. Allow jello to thicken and then whip it to the consistency of heavy cream. Add one-half cup of granulated sugar and the crushed pineapple to two cups of cold, cooked rice and fold into mixture one cup of whipped cream, mixing thoroughly. Place into a refrigerator until firmly set. Whipped cream topping may be added to individual servings.

This makes a delicious, versatile dessert which lends itself to the pastel color scheme of your dinner or party plans, simply by your choice of jello flavor and color.

$100 Cake.

At a food sale, one of our friends bought this dark cake that is referred to as the $100 cake because of its rich flavor. The cake does not rise high but it is delicious to an extreme. Make it with one-half cup of butter into which you blend two cups of granulated sugar, beat two eggs and add to mixture. Cream with 300 strokes throughout mixing of ingredients. Add four squares of chocolate, melted. Sift two cups of sifted flour with two teaspoons baking powder. Add to creamed mixture with one and one-half cups milk. Add one cup of cut-up black walnuts and two teaspoons vanilla extract. Bake in a pre-heated oven at 350 degrees, until done. Ice as desired. Special icing for cake will be printed next week.

Warm Cotton.

Here is a hint that may be appreciated by a lot of women who make quilts, also stuffed toys. If you warm the cotton in a slow oven until it is thoroughly heated, it will not mat when washed. Oven temperatures should be 250 degrees—Mrs. William T. McLinden.

Divinity Candy.

Use two cups granulated sugar, one-half cup white corn syrup, one-half cup cold water. Boil mixture until brittle. Have ready the whites of two eggs, beaten to stiff froth and one-half cup nutmeats, (walnuts preferred) finely chopped. Pour boiling syrup into egg whites and beat. Add nuts and beat. Pour on to a buttered plate to cool.—Mrs. Thomas Watson.

Bowl of Green.

Now is the time to get ready for a table centerpiece for St. Patrick's day. When you prepare for cooking such vegetables as parsnips, rutabagas, carrots or beets, cut one-half inch off the end of each and put them into a shallow dish with enough water to float them. In about 48 hours, little green shoots appear in the tops. They grow rapidly and stay green about three weeks. Parsnip leaves sprout easily. Add enough water each day to keep tops floating. If they stick to dish, they will rot.—Mrs. Charles Blunier.

Role Of Business Bureau Reviewed

Mrs. Lucy Husted of the Lincoln Better Business Bureau pointed out Wednesday night the importance of the advice, "Investigate Before You Invest."

Speaking before the Hiram club at the Y. W. C. A., Mrs. Husted stated that the bureau saved 72 Lincoln merchants $1,855 in 1948. This was done through the investigation and education departments of the bureau.

In discussing the purposes of the bureau, she declared that the primary function is to create better business-consumer relations through education and protection of the consumer. She reiterated that it is not a law-enforcing agency.

In closing Mrs. Husted declared "All strangers are not crooks, but most crooks are strangers.

Windbreak On North Helped Protect Stock

NELIGH, Neb. — Antelope county shelterbelts and homestead windbreaks that had a dense row of good sized evergreens on the north side really stopped the snow, according to County Agent W. A. Buchanan. The snow drifted in close to the south of these evergreens, with drifts ranging from 12 to 25 feet high.

Such high snow drifts, Buchanan says, provided excellent protection to cattle from the cold winter blasts coming from the north or northwest.

Vets Can Expand G. I. Insurance To Cover Disability

The Veteran Administration Thursday reminded World war II veterans who have GI insurance in force that they may obtain additional protection under a plan which pays up to $50 per month for total disability.

Ashley Westmoreland, Lincoln regional office manager, said holders of any type of GI insurance policy may purchase the protection, which provides for payments of $5 per month for each thousand dollars of insurance in force if the insured becomes totally disabled. He added that the maximum amount of GI insurance any veteran may have is $10,000.

The plan calls for additional premiums, some as low as 16 cents monthly per thousand dollars of insurance in force, based on the age of the veteran and the type of policy he has.

To qualify for the plan, the veteran must pass a physical examination which can be obtained free of charge from any fulltime VA doctor, or by private physician at the veteran's own expense, Westmoreland said.

A delicious spread for a party is made by mashing avocado to a fine pulp and seasoning with onion or garlic salt, salt and freshly ground pepper. Celery salt may be added, too, if desired.

A Holiday Special

If you are entetaining next week and feel in the holiday mood, cherry preserves will help make a festive snack for your family and friends on George Washington's birthday. As for the youngsters in your family, they'll enjoy cutting out the paper hatchet pattern that in turn can be used to form the bread shapes for the snacks.

To prepare this patriotic snack treat, spread each bread hatchet with a layer of softened cream cheese, then with one of cherry jam. If desired, another bread hatchet may be added in sandwitch style. You'll like this easy to make small-size recipe for the jam.

INGREDIENTS: 1 one-pound pack quick-frozen red sour pitted cherries, 2¼ cups sugar, 5 tablespoons powdered fruit pectin (mix contents of package thoroughly before measuring).

METHOD: Thaw cherries as directed on package; then drain, reserving juice. Chop cherries fine. Measure cherries and juice and add enough water to make 2¼ cups. Place in a large saucepan. Measure sugar and set aside. Place saucepan holding fruit over high heat. Add powdered fruit pectin and stir until mixture comes to a hard boil. Add sugar at once. Bring to a full rolling boil for 1 minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat, skim, pour quickly into jelly glasses. Paraffin at once. Makes about 3 six-ounce glasses.

Another treat is to top vanilla or custard pudding with the cherry preserves and then improvise drum-style containers as shown in the photograph.

SEED BILL IS HELD IN COMMITTEE

Nebraska's war on noxious weeds which has been watched throughout the midwest as the outstanding elimination campaign Wednesday held a skirmish before the agricultural committee of the legislature to determine the extent of controls on seedmen.

Director of Agriculture Rufus Howard and J. E. Conklin, Hubbell, and Adolph Schwainger, Princeton, representing weed districts, appealed for a law requiring all seed sold to be 100 per cent free of noxious weeds.

Urge Interstate Tolerances.

Ray Mueting, Norfolk, representing the state seedmen; Harry Hirsch, Lincoln, and William Heceendorn, Chicago, secretary of the Seed Trade association, appealed for tolerances similar to those granted in interstate commerce.

Argument against granting of tolerances, and it was conceded some weed seed was unavoidable, was that it would become the standard rather than attempt to have weed-free seed. The bill it was said is not aimed at the reputable seedmen but to control those selling inferior seed.

The committee took the bill, LB 374 under advisement as it did LB 357, providing for the use of explosives in removing beaver dams and other obstructions from water courses needed to operate public power, irrigation and drainage ditches.

The committee voted out to general file LB 334 authorizing the director of agriculture to prescribe rules for the cattle to be vaccinated for Bang's disease.

University Aid For Handicapped Children Planned

In an effort to aid children handicapped by speech or hearing difficulties, the University of Nebraska speech and hearing laboratories have arranged a series of Saturday morning games at the Temple, Twelfth and R streets.

John Wiley, laboratory director, said parents interested in the program should bring their children to room 205 at 9 a. m. Saturday for interview and examination.

Miss Lucille Cypreansen, laboratory staff member, will supervise the games and exercises. The children, Wiley explained, are grouped according to age and handicaps.

Parents should understand, he added, that a fee of $15 for a semester of work is charged. Wiley said the laboratory will limit acceptance of children to those whom it believes can be helped most.

Del Lienemann Files For City Council Post

Seeks To Revise Taxation System

There will be a public accountant on the city council if Del Lienemann's arguments meet with voter approval.

"As an accountant and a businessman," Lienemann said, "I want to approach the taxation problem from a practical as well as a theoretical point of view." Lienemann, who filed Thursday morning, is owner of Del's Gift shop. His wife manages the shop.

Lienemann wants to revise the taxation system which has proven inadequate. The system needs to be more equitable and should relieve the burden on the property owner, he said.

He plans to review the transportation system to see that Lincoln has best possible service, but questions the employment of "outside experts" to advise on the matter.

Lienemann said he would urge the appointment of three public accountants to volunteer to study city government to determine its efficiency and to see how the tax dollar might be stretched to its fullest extent.

For Salary Increase.

He believes councilmen's and mayor's salaries should be increased to interest more people in serving on the council but offered no specific figures.

Lienemann is 29, married, a graduate of the University of Nebraska college of business administration in 1941. He is national secretary-treasurer of Beta Sigma Psi, social fraternity, and a member of the Lincoln alumni chapter of that organization. He is a member of the junior chamber of commerce, the Co-op club, Trinity Lutheran church, Lutheran Laymen's league and a member of the building finance committee of his church.

Three Named Heirs In Johnson Will

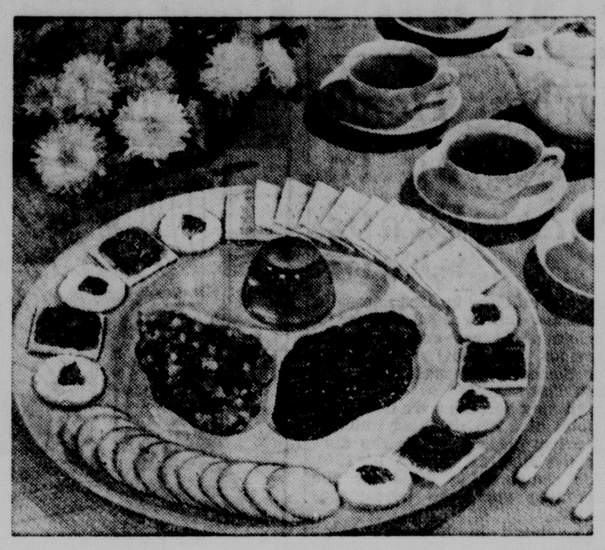

The will of Virginia V. Johnson, who died Feb. 9, names a nephew, a brother and a sister as legatees. The will was filed for probate in County court.

The nephew, Augustus I. Hasskarl, Lincoln, is bequeathed the deceased's some at 880 North Twenty-sixth street and the bulk of the personal property.

Charles T. Voight, Manahawkin, New Jersey, and Mary V. Hasskarl, Green Lane, Pa., brother and sister, are each given half shares in the remainder of the estate.

The will provides that property going to the brother and sister be sold within one year and that the proceeds go to them.

Good For Snacks

For refreshments after winter skating, spring hikes or for all-year-round tea parties there is nothing quite as attractive and useful as this large wooden platter which will hold several kinds of jam, jelly or preserves and an assortment of crackers.

Spread some of the crackers with fluffy cream cheese or jellies and leave some plain so that guests may take their choice.

Served with tea or coffee, the hors d'oeuvres will make a delectable, tasty treat.

Radke Urges MVA Program

...For Basin Development

Confusion and lack of unified planning evidenced so far by the Pick-Sloan plan of development for the Missouri river basin were scored Wednesday night by Franz Radke, chairman of the Nebraska committee for a Missouri valley authority.

Speaking before a meeting of the Lancaster County Young Democrats at the Lincoln hotel, Radke said the federal power commission has reported that Pick-Sloan developments will use only one-fifth of the power potential.

"The only sensible thing is to have an MVA to do this big job," Radke said. "Formation of a separate government corporation is the way to get the job done efficiently."

The members of the club approved appointments of committee chairmen and named two new honorary members of the club.

The two honorary members are James E. Lawrence, editor of The Star, and Radke, a local attorney.

Committee heads named:

Wood Shurtleff, business.
Albin T. Anderson, legislation.
James Kopetka, membership.
Tom Sorensen, program.
Fred Hodek, radio.

N. H. M. Net Income Sets Record In '48

Lehmkuhl Renamed Company President

OMAHA—Highest net income in the history of the Nebraska Hardware Mutual Insurance company was attained during the past year, the group's annual report given by Ed Lehmkuhl, Wahoo, president reveals.

A survey covering a five year period shows gains of 17 per cent in surplus account with assets increased 20 per cent and premium income up 86 per cent.

Dividends to policyholders ranged from 10 to 30 per cent and all indications point to this same saving through 1949, officials report. Premium reserves are carried on the New York standard basis and are set at 100 per cent while the requirements of this state are only 40 per cent.

At the group's annual meeting held here Tuesday, the following officers were elected: Mr. Lehmkuhl, president; Carl Kollmeyer, Fremont, vice president; C. A. McCoy, Lincoln, secretary-treasurer, and Blanche Newhall, assistant secretary-treasurer. Directors elected were: F. W. Arndt, Blair; George Bischof, Nebraska City, and Carl Kollmeyer, Fremont. Hold-over directors are: McCoy; Lehmkuhl; Leslie Thomas, Lincoln; M. E. Kerl, West Point; Fred Pelz, Holdrege, and C. C. Johnson, Omaha.

Nine Per Cent Under January, 1948, Amount

OMAHA—(AP)—The blizzard of '49 failed to cut Nebraska purchases of U. S. savings bonds as much as was expected, state bond Director Leland R. Hall said today.

Nebraska bond purchases in January totaled $12,076,780, which was four and a quarter million dollars above the December total. The January volume was nine per cent under the January, 1948, total. A greater drop had been expected because of the snow Hall said.

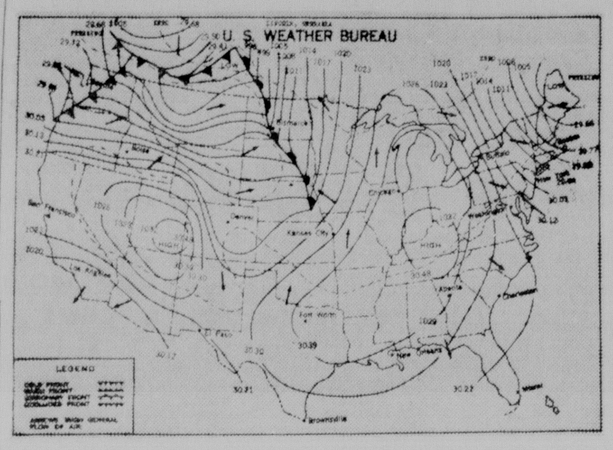

Bright Outlook.

"It now appears that livestock losses in the blizzard areas will not be as heavy as first anticipated," Hall added. "This fact, coupled with the added moisture for the crops in Nebraska, enables all of us to look to the future with a degree of confidence we might not have had several weeks ago."

County-by-county purchases of series "E" bonds for January included:

Adams $198,562.82; Box Butte $65,212.50; Buffalo $178,388.14; Cherry $84,018.75; Dawes $47,700.00; Dodge $154,781.25; Douglas $1,909,424.43; Gage $178,875; Hall $203,740.37; Jefferson $69,925.32; Lancaster $725,781.32; Lincoln $131,779.78; Madison $128,812.50; Platte $178,294.07; Red Willow $114,131.25; Scotts Bluff $166,931.56.

"E" bond purchases totaled $7,834,178.65. Series "F" and "G" bonds made up the remainder of the January total.

WEATHER BUREAU SUMMARY—The inflow of Pacific air has caused further rains in the western portions of Washington and Oregon, with amounts mostly exceeding an inch. Light to moderate precipitation occurred inland over western Montana. The downslope winds over the northern Rockies and the Missouri valley are attended by unseasonably warm weather to the south of the low pressure trough north of Montana. A large, cold high pressure area is over northwestern Canada and pressing the trough southward. Light to moderate rains occurred Wednesday in the eastern states except for some locally heavy amounts in the Carolinas but the weather has generally cleared now in the east.

Urban Home Building In State Drops

...During 1948

Home building in urban areas in Nebraska during 1948 showed a decline of 14 per cent from the previous year, the Bureau of Labor Statistics reported from Chicago Thursday.

Building permits were issued for a total of 2,965 dwelling units in all urban places in Nebraska during the first 11 months of 1948. This compares to 3,446 for the preceding year, the bureau reported.

The trend in Nebraska home building was in direct contrast with other urban areas in the U. S. An increase of 6.6 per cent was recorded as an average throughout the country.

Urban places include all villages, towns, and cities which had a population in excess of 2,500 at the last decennial census.

Behind Farm News

Market Break Not Warranted, Brannan Says

Wheat, Corn Loans, Exports Should Be Price Stabilizers

Are there "danger signs" in the current market breaks?

That is the question that thousands of Nebraska farmers would like to have answered in detail before the '49 growing season rolls around.

Already, some farmers believe that Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan gave them part of the answer in his testimony this month before the senate committee on agriculture and forestry.

"Mr. Chairman, we see nothing in the basic economic situation to warrant the current market break. The evidence is in the facts about the commodities involved," he declared.

Continuing, Brannan testified:

Wheat—

"Farmers know that their incomes are not made on the futures market and the current decline in wheat futures involving speculative influences should have little effect on wheat producers.

Loans and purchase agreements were avaliable to wheat producers during the first half of the current marketing year. Stocks of wheat on farms on Jan. 7 of this year were not as large as they were a year ago. Approximately 343,000,000 bushels of wheat are under loan or purchase agreement with the department of agriculture. In its export purchasing operations the department of agriculture is continuing to buy all cash wheat offered at going market prices for a period of two hours daily. Our purchases totaled 1,700,000 bushels yesterday and 1,167,000 the day previous. While the cash market is now below a support level very little wheat is being offered for sale.

"The total amount of wheat and of all grains scheduled for export for the first three-quarters of the current marketing year which began July 1 is near the total exported in the entire last marketing year. The total scheduled for export for the period through the end of March is 565,000,000 bushels, including 406,000,000 bushels of wheat, and 158,000,000 bushels of coarse grains, about half of which is corn. To meet the export schedule of 565,000,000 bushels by the end of March will require the purchase of an additional 20,000,000 bushels of wheat and 20,000,000 bushels of coarse grains. This compares with shipments during all of the last marketing year of 588,000,000 bushels, of which 486,000,000 were wheat."

CORN

"Corn producers who have access to acceptable storage have until June 30 to obtain loans or purchase agreements at 90 per cent of parity. There is, of course, a problem in parts of the corn belt where corn has a moisture content too high to be eligible for sealing under the loan program. In many cases where corn is too wet to be eligible for a loan farmers can well afford to sort and re-crib corn which is not now eligible for loan."

MEAT

"Since the livestock and meat price peaks last summer, livestock marketings have been increasing while the proportion of consumer income spent for meat has been declining. This is the reverse of the situation that existed a year ago when livestock prices were at a peak and a larger than normal percentage of consumer income was being spent for meat. The continuing high level of consumer incomes and the numbers of livestock available for market would indicate the probability of some upward readjustment in livestock prices and consumer expenditures for meat. Meat supplies for the first three-quarters of this year certainly will be no greater than for the same period last year. It will be important for livestock producers to avoid market gluts such as have occurred during the last few days.

"Prices of cattle, hogs, and lambs still are well above parity. Unfortunately, however, farmers had to pay high prices for cattle now on feed and are taking heavy losses on current sales.

"We still think that the outlook for farmers in 1949 is good. We are going ahead with our regular programs to assist farmers in producing the large amounts of food needed here and abroad, and to assure them fair returns. We believe that the congress will remove the restriction on Commodity Credit operations in the storage field so that we will be better able to assist farmers with price support programs for their crops in 1949."

Civil Service Bill Is Held In Committee

Would Take Politics Out Of Police Force In First Class Cities

The legislature's government committee delayed until a future date action on legislation which would take policemen in first class cities out of local politics and provide them with civil service appointments.

The action followed a public hearing Wednesday afternoon at which policemen and city officials from Hastings, Grand Island, Fremont, Columbus, Scottsbluff, and North Platte attended.

50 Per Cent Turnover.

Sen. W. Halsey Bohlke, Hastings, the introducer, said that in some cities there is a 50 per cent turnover in policemen after a new administration takes office. He said the police were at the mercy of every new mayor that takes office. Firemen in these cities obtained passage of a similar bill.

"Let us give the police an incentive to do good word rather than make the department a school for the boy in some ward who got out a big vote for the victors," Sen. Bohlke said.

Sen. Louis A. Holmes, Grand Island, told of his experience as a police judge and county attorney and said that it is now necessary for police to be trained. He pointed to the increased training necessary to handle traffic and the importance of obtaining proper evidence. He called attention to the dismissal of 14 policemen in his home city a few years ago.

Amendment Readied.

J. C. Jensen of the Fremont Central Labor Union, accompanied by three officers, said union men were interested in good government. He said both firemen and city light and water department employes were under civil service and he urged the state law to back up the semi-merit system they now have.

"We don't want our police to be afraid to arrest an offender because it happened to be a friend of some mayor," he told the committee.

Kenneth Ramsey spoke for himself and three fellow officers from Hastings and Kenneth Simpson for a like number from Columbus. Chief Marvin Nelson attended from Scottsbluff and Capt. Ernest Mason headed the North Platte delegation.

Because LB 320 creating a merit system for Douglas county employes was found to conflict with other state laws, Sen. Charles Tvrdik asked that action be delayed until March 9 at which time he will have amendments.

The committee reported to general file LB 496 giving permission to the county cleark to destroy chattel mortgages 25 years after they have been filed.

Excessive Runoff Likely From Thaw North Platte Area

SCOTTSBLUFF, Neb. —(AP)— Snow accumulation on Feb. 1 on the headwaters of the North Platte river was high, according to a snow survey bulletin released by the U. S. department of agriculture and the Colorado agricultural experiment station.

The snow-water contents of the watershed are now close to the April 1 average for the past figures and 50 to 80 per cent above normal, the bulletin states. Summer runoff in streams of this watershed should be at least average and if the present rate of snow accumulation continues, the runoff will be excessive, according to the report.

Storage in the four major reservoirs on the North Platte is listed as 1,119,000 acre feet as compared to 1,339,000 a year ago. In Kingsley and Sutherland reservoirs in Nebraska, the storage now totals 1,587,000 acre feet, practically the same as last year, according to the report.

Pendray Winner Speech Contest

Arthur Pendray, with a speech on the unassuming title, "January, 1949," was the first winner in the recently instituted speech contest of the Lincoln Toastmasters.

Runner-up at the regular meeting of the group at the Y.M.C.A. Wednesday night, was Ed Nole. Nole discussed fanaticism and its dangers.

The winner and runner-up will participate in the district contest in Lincoln March 9, which also includes the Capitol Toastmasters and a club from Beatrice.

Harold Sorenson, who reviewed some of his experiences in the newspaper business, was the other speaker for the evening. Topicmaster was Cecil Parker, and toastmaster was Lawrence Dade.

Chapter 3

"You speak boldly, Senor," he said. "But I like boldness in a man. And I do not forget favors. I could turn you over to the local authorities to be hanged — but there are others to afford them amusement, and what would it profit me?"

"And what nobleman of Spain ever overlooked a chance for profit?" Rivers gibed.

"What do you know about New Orleans?" Gonzales demanded, ignoring the thrust.

"Not much."

"Have you ever been there?"

"Never."

"You know that it's held now by Napoleon's men?"

"Who are worse than your own King's puppets were!"

"Maybe. And did you know that the French have abrogated the right of deposit to the Americans — closing the Mississippi to their trade?"

"That is no news," Rivers yawned.

"But it is an explosive situation," Don Fernando said softly. "The Americans are talking war! And there are great stores of produce held upriver, unable to be sold. Booty to make that of the average pirate seem a small thing!"

"And what about it?"

"By a proper stroke, one might not only win riches—but he might also set Spain and France at one another's throats—as they should be, instead of Don Carlos of Spain walking like a vassal in the train of the pretender Bonaparte! How does that sound?"

"You begin," Rivers confessed, "to interest me."

"I had hoped to do so. Because you befriended Donna Dolores, I'm disposed to help you. I could turn you over to the authorities to hang. But I would rather have you as a friend, to our mutual profit. Which do you prefer?"

"Don Fernando," Rivers said slowly. "You seem to speak a language which I can understand. Go on."

"You have noticed how much alike we are in looks, and build —even in voice?"

"I've noticed."

"It is a miracle," Don Fernando said slowly. "Just when I needed one. Like myself, you are a bold man. I think that — with the noose as an alternative—we can do business!"

"Now you begin to make yourself clear," Rivers murmured.

"It is not so bad as you assume," Don Fernando murmured deprecatingly. "Indeed, to a man like yourself, it should be but a pleasant interlude. And profitable."

"Let's have the story," Rivers suggested.

"It was—how shall I say it?—an indiscretion." Don Fernando shrugged. "It happened a year ago, in New Orleans. I was there for a short visit—very urgent business. I had no wish to offend —but you know how those things happen."

"What did happen?" Rivers asked bluntly.

"This family, the Montforts, considered themselves affronted. A matter of honor. But mine was a mission for the honor of Spain. It was imperative that I depart at once. This I explained. Pledging to return within a year and afford the Montforts full satisfaction. The word of a Gonzales. They were satisfied."

"And now that the year's up, you don't want to go back?"

"You misunderstand, Senor. Nothing would give me greater pleasure. The Montforts are an old family in New Orleans, and more arrogant than I can stomach. To spit in their faces—to show them the honor of a hidalgo of Castile—to give them the satisfaction they crave, at sword's point! I am greatly tempted.

"But if I do this, showing myself openly now, it will be an empty triumph. The plot which I carry forward demands secrecy. But if I can be there, to move unobserved—then the fruits will be rich! And how better than to appear to be there, answering the Montforts in the open, for all the world to see? Is it not the perfect scheme?"

"What is the nature of this plot?" Rivers asked.

"Ah, that! There is fur, farm produce—much treasure bottled up by the French! What a chance for a man of imagination! Much has already been arranged. Though some remains to be done. And so that I may do it, you will proceed to New Orleans on the ship which lies now at anchor, closest off-shore — the Lovely Maria.

"She is a sweet ship, the Maria, built for a privateersman. Strong, with long guns well concealed. Innocent looking as a maiden at her prayers. You will arrive there as myself, Don Fernando Gonzales—sailing arrogantly up to the city. You will swagger, you will afford the Montforts the satisfaction they demanded—giving it to them as a Gonzales always gives, and perhaps not wholly to their liking! That is a sharp point which they must risk, ha!"

"That can perhaps be taken care of," Rivers conceded.

"Assuredly. I observed how you used your blade. You not only look like a Gonzales, you handle your sword like one. While you are thus occupied and every eye upon you, I will be occupied too—most profitably. I have another ship, a twin to the Lovely Maria —The Gay Countess. We will come quietly, like a forbidden lover. Slipping past the city, up the river by night. When you have disposed of your chore, there will be work for you and the Lovely Maria, a full and profitable share in the enterprise."

Though he gave no more details, Rivers understood. This was to be a giant venture in freebootery—on a scale deliberately calculated to have international repercussions. And with a fine profit in the offing, if they could carry it through.

Most of which suited Rivers well enough. And it was not a thing which he could stop, in any case. Unless he took part, he would be hanged as a common felon, and the plot, already laid, would proceed. He might be useful, but he was not invaluable.

Likewise, this act, if successful, would reopen the river to the trade of the Americans, and that was worth any price! Could not they see, there in Washington, that here was a cast empire in the west, which must be fought for? Particularly, when a man of such boundless ambition as Napoleon dreamed of having the world at his feet?

He was not so trusting of Spaniards, or of his fellowmen, as to accept what had been told him at face value. There would be risk, and probably some unpleasant surprises. But if Don Fernando had pledged the Montforts to return at a stated time and afford them satisfaction, that was understandable.

He could handle that part as well as Gonzales. Better, probably. There was nothing which any Spaniard could do which he, Jean Rivers, could not do better.

REFLECTIONS ON THE RANCH.

Long Pine, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I believe the winter of 1948-49 will soon be in the past, compared to the winter of 1888. Had we got 12 hours of the '88 storm it would have cleaned all the range or depending on windbreaks in spite of county and state machinery. And in 1912-13 we had, according to the weather bureau at Valentine, 108 inches of snow from Dec. 5 to April 1, with only three days without snow sometime during the day. The reason this winter hit us so hard was that we were neither used to it nor prepared for it, most of us depending on cars and tractors. Our county maintainers, and what I saw of the state equipment were old, obsolete and unable to cope with the continually packing snow. The ranchers, somewhat prepared, had good work horses and were all right. We live out 11 miles and had a couple of teams, one of which we used to haul feed with and the other to drive to town once or twice a week for mail and groceries. Generally we drove about 10 miles further and though it is thinly settled out here, on one trip we carried groceries for 10 families. The roads are open now to most of the settlements. Those on unopened roads can get help by contacting a Red Cross plane. There was quite a bit of contract machinery used on No. 183, but the big operators got it on the start and still have it. I believe the time is coming when we will conserve the farmer or small rancher as well as the land, and the man that raises feed and prepares to feed and care for his diversified stock will be considered.

OLD NEBRASKA.

PUTTING KILLERS TO DEATH.

Raymond, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: If Nora Mae Robertson will take her Bible and look up further texts on the subject, she will quickly see that "Thou shalt not kill" is not all that God said that may bear directly on the question of capital punishment. Notice Genesis 9:6—"Whosoever sheddeth man's blood, by man shall his blood be shed." Then read Chap. 35 of Numbers; four times in that chapter God says that the murderer shall surely be put to death. Twice in that chapter He says that the revenger of blood—the executioner—shall slay the murderer. He also says that the revenger of blood shall not be held guilty of blood when he slays the murderer, Numbers 35:27. Is it fair to quote just a single text —"Thou shalt not kill"—without quoting all the rest God said on the subject? Since it was God's will that murderers should not be suffered to live, why should mortals arrogate to themselves the right to brand a legal executioner as a murderer when God has clearly said he is not a murderer? Further light on the subject is found in the 13th chapter of Romans. Rulers are not a terror to good works but to evil, and the powers of government are ordained of God. Of that power we are informed that "he beareth not the sword in vain for he is the minister of God, a revenger to execute wrath upon him that doeth evil." Let's be fair and quote all that God has said, not just a small part; then we'll be able to see the matter from every angle.

A February Bride

The marriage of Miss Charlotte Jean Anderson, daughter of Mrs. Nellie Anderson, to Kenneth Eugene Perkins, son of Mrs. Marie Perkins, was solemnized late Sunday afternoon, February 13, at Calvary Evangelical United Brethren church. Pastel yellow snapdragons, white gladioli and greenery decorated the altar, and the lines of the 4 o'clock ceremony were read by the Rev. F. F. Gross in the presence of one hundred guests.

Preceding the service, Henry Weibe sang, "Because," and "O Perfect Love," accompanied by Mrs. Doris Roland, organist, who also played the wedding music.

Wearing a colonial gown of green taffeta was the maid of honor, Miss Alice Perkins, who carried an arm bouquet of yellow jonquils. The bridesmaids, Miss Betty Jane Breck and Miss Alma Schnirl, both of Waverly, wore similar frocks of yellow taffeta and their bouquets were of Johanna Hill roses. Miss Judy Kyle, frocked in green taffeta, was the flower girl.

Given in marriage by the Rev. Ralph T. Kyle, the bride appeared in a gown of white slipper satin. A deep ruffle of Chantilly lace embroidered with seed pearls framed the low rounded neckline of the fitted bodice, which was completed with long sleeves, and the fully gathered skirt, slit at the front to reveal an underskirt of ruffled lace, tapered into a train. The lace motif was repeated in the bonnet brim trimmed with lilies-of-the-valley which held her illusion veil, and she carried a bouquet of Phalaenopsis and stephanotis.

Francis Hitch was best man and the ushers were Frank Mishler, Harold Lee, Raymond Schreurs and Glen Schreurs, all of Lincoln.

A reception was held in the parlors of the church where bouquets of white snapdragons appointed the bridal table. Included among those assisting at the reception were Mrs. Ruby Kepler, Mrs. Anna Graves and Mrs. Ada Patoon.

Following a wedding trip to the Grand Canyon, Ariz., the couple will reside in Lincoln. For traveling, Mrs. Perkins wore a beige suit with navy blue accessories.

Archibald MacLeish:

Education Of Mind As Road To Peace, UNESCO Goal

"War is begotten in man's mind; therefore peace can only be obtained through the education of the mind," declared Archibald MacLeish, former assistant secretary of state, Wednesday afternoon at the opening session of the mock UNESCO conference held at the University of Nebraska coliseum.

The executive committee member of UNESCO explained that the commission was not formed to further education, scientific and cultural knowledge but to use education, science and culture for the purpose of gaining world peace.

"UNESCO concerns European countries because they desire to establish world government. It is the concern of the world because it must include an international system of education. The state department believes we must use the instrument of adult education, the radio, to further our goal and reach human reality."

Operating On Defensive.

In relating the background of UNESCO, MacLeish said the limited beginning of the organization was the Intellectual Co-operation Institute which was formed in France shortly after World War I.

"Although we are headed toward a creative revolution, we are not moving in a direct, positive fashion, but are on the defensive. We seem to believe Russia is the great, driving force in this battle of two extremes," MacLeish added.

Russian expansion is by force and threat, he said, not by conversion of men and women to the communistic belief. "We must use this education, both scientific and cultural, to find how these two institutions can exist in the same world without hate and fear."

People Free And Independent.

"What is missing is the sense of human community. We must believe in the American people, in the American way of life, because ours is the creation of a society in which the people are free and independent," MacLeish said.

The conference will continue through Friday. Dr. Albert Rosenthal, of the University of Denver and former assistant director of UNESCO in Washington, introduced Mr. MacLeish.

From Theory To Practical Hardest Job

Chancellor Opens UNESCO Conference

Making practical projects out of generalized proposals is the hardest job of the United Nations educational, scientific and cultural organization, Chancellor R. G. Gustavson of the University of Nebraska said Wednesday night.

The chancellor, who was one of the five voting delegates to UNESCO from the United States at the Mexico City conference in 1947, was speaking to the mock student UNESCO conference being held at the university.

Chancellor Gustavson advocated putting university graduate students to work at research on the social and economic problems of the post-war world.

The problems of population and surplus labor are of "primary importance," the chancellor said.

WORLD LITERACY PROBLEM.

"Prejudices can only be eradicated by study of the causes, and that is one job for UNESCO," the chancellor said. Another thing always to be kept in mind, he said, is the problem of world literacy.

The chancellor introduced Dr. Allen Rosenthal, of the University of Denver, who attended the last official UNESCO session. Dr. Rosenthal is advising the students taking part on ways of making the mock conference resemble a real session.

The Denver educator stressed the work of the educational scientific and cultural organization as the "means to our end," the end being world peace.

Dilatory Tactics.

The Wednesday meetings of the conference were held around a large rectangular conference table at the university coliseum. "Delegates" from campus organizations represented the different countries.

Dilatory tactics on the part of some of the delegates revealed how in a real conference, actions of a few nations, interested not in the welfare of the whole, but only in securing concessions advantageous to their particular country, can completely stymie the progress of an international body.

The first of such moves was a motion by the Luxembourg delegation to debate the seating of the northern or southern Korean delegation—an issue which had been decided during the afternoon session of the council.

To Consider Resolutions.

The Luxembourg delegation then moved consideration of the first resolution, a proposal to provide an international code for placement of surplus labor throughout the world. With many amendments proposed, debated, and considered in detail, the proposal was finally defeated as not within the scope of UNESCO.

The conference will begin Thursday afternoon considering five other resolutions proposed for debate. The mock conferences are scheduled to continue through Thursday night and Friday afternoon.

Rent Case Opens In Omaha Court

OMAHA—(AP)—United States District Judge James A. Donohoe this afternoon was to resume hearing the first Omaha case charging criminal contempt in connection with the rent control act.

Apartment landlords Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Fitzgerald are defendants. Their attorney said the couple put in new furnishings and increased rent just enough to meet the new costs.

Mrs. Martha Goll, occupant of one of the apartments, testified that in one instance she paid $30 for rent that should have been $18, and in another, paid $20 when only $12 was due. She said the receipts were made out for the smaller amounts.

Bill Permits Suit Against Foreign Insurance Firms

Foreign insurance companies not licensed in Nebraska could be sued in this state, according to a bill approved by the judiciary committee of the unicameral Wednesday.

The legislation is aimed at protecting Nebraskans from mail-order and other firms not licensed here, Bernard Stone, state director of insurance, told the committee.

He explained that such policies seldom give very full coverage and result in many suits. The bill, LB 269, provides that the director of insurance could be served legal process on behalf of the firm and would notify it of the action.

Fraternal Orders Exempted.

Although Stone admitted that there is some question of constitutionality of such a measure, he told the committee a similar South Carolina law had been upheld by a federal court in 1946.

The committee adopted an amendment proposed by Stone, exempting fraternal organization insurance from its provisions.

The controversial LB 56, dealing with the building of viaducts by cities and railroad companies, was once more laid over, this time until Monday.

In other action, the committee:

Killed LB 203, which would have increased the assault-and-battery maximum fine from $100 to $500.

Amended and approved LB 150, relating to fees received by county judges, to include features of LB 229 which was killed.

Approved LB 260, making the right of an alien not living in the U. S. to inherit the property of a Nebraskan depend on whether their inheritance reciprocity between that country and the U. S.

Approved LB 360, permitting Municipal and County courts (as well as Supreme and District) to mawe declaratory judgments, and attached an emergency clause.

Approved LB 147, providing for the appointment of acting county judges when the judge is busy with other court matters.

Laid over LB 158, relating to the apportionment of estate taxes, and LB 182, revamping the incorporation statutes for religious corporations.

HUSKERS WIN 10 EVENTS, SWEEP FOUR; MAGSAMEN, MORRISON WIN TWO RACES

By NORRIS ANDERSON

NEBRASKA'S track and field train, briefly derailed by Missouri Saturday, returned to winning tracks Wednesday eve with a decisive 79½ to 24½ triumph over sparse Kansas State.

Coach Ed Weir's well-populated forces won 10 events, registered grand slams in four of the five flat races and never experienced an anxious moment.

Nary a record was erased although Huskers Ray Magsamen and Loyal Hurlbert breathed heavily on the 60-yard low hurdle and halfmile archives.

The 195-pound Magsamen, who owns a highway restaurant near Albion, used a healthy tape lunge to squeeze by teammate Al Thompson in a :06.9 flight of low hurdles. Heye Lambertus' 16-year old mark of :06.8 thus was neared.

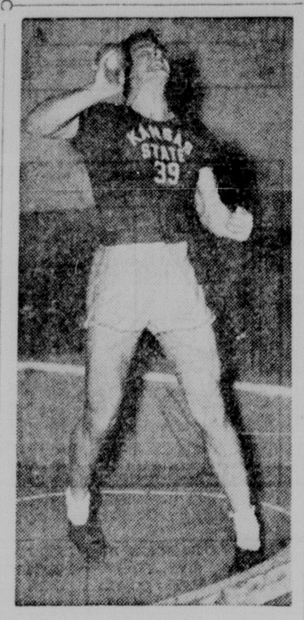

Magsamen's clocking in winning his fifth straight low hurdle race equalled the top mark posted by a Big Seven topper this season. The only other lad to post a :06.9 is Oklahoman Hobo Gilstrap, who will be here Saturday with the Sooners.

Big Ray also won the high hurdles in :07.8 as Bob Berkshire, the Huskers No. 1 man in the event, was waylaid by a sore leg.

Hurlbert, the spindly six-foot 148-pound Ord junior, electrified the crowd of 1,100 in the halfmile.

1:58.7 HALFMILE.

Bespectacled Loyal, known largely for his 440 ability, set a fast early pace and coasted to a tidy 1:58.7 timing. His time, only three-tenths of a second off the Kansas State duel mark, is second in Big Seven circles only to Kansas' Pat Bowers' 1:57.8 here two weeks ago.

BIG SEVEN CHAMP — Rollin Prather scored one of the two Kansas State first places Wednesday with a 50 foot 3½ inch shot put toss. He is defending Big Seven indoor and outdoor shot champion.

Billy Mountford, the Red Cloud sophomore, exploded on the final lap to edge Junior Jim Martin for second place. Martin wearied along the last 50 yards.

Don Morrison, 145-pound Lincoln senior, was a double event winner.

Dauntless Don, after tying with Harold Kopf and Mountford for first in a slow 4:45.8 mile, came back with a victorious 10:15.5 job in the two-mile.

Morrison and Kopf, running his first mile, and Mountford locked arms at the mile finish after Kopf had led over the last two laps.

MEGINNIS WINS 440.

Husker Harry Meginnis paced the 440 pack all the way around and withstood a closing sprint by Teammate Fritz Ware in :52. It was the first open quarter for both Meginnis and Ware this season.

Meginnis also landed third behind Dick Hutton and Al Thompson in a tight-packed :06.3 dash, won by Hutton by a foot.

With Bill Moorhouse opening with a :52.8 quarter, the Husker mile relay team nearly edged the mark of 3:31. Moorhouse, Don Vollertsen, Kopf and Billy Hein rambled in 30 yards ahead in 3:31.3.

Kansas State won only two events, the broad jump and shot put.

The behemoth perennial, 225-pound Rollin Prather, had a four-foot margin over all shot put rivals in pushing the ball 50 feet 3½ inches. Husker Dick Piderit was next with 46-10 some three feet behind his usual distance.

Herbert Hoskins, 18-year old Wildcat sophomore, soared over 23 feet on four broad jump tries. At that, the handy-legged kid's winning leap of 23-7¾ was arears the 25-foot jump he registered as a freshman sensation.

Nebraskas only field event victors were Orville Glass i nthe high jump and Leonard Kehl in the pole vault.

Glass, the Beatrice kangeroo, cleared the crossplece at 6 feet 1⅛ inches and headed for the dressing room.

After winning the vault at 13-1 Kehl tried three times at 13-6. On each occasion, he brushed off the bar on the way down.

Kansas State, lacking indoor training facilities, lingered after the meet for a workout.

Nebraska's soph two-miler Esref (The Tireless Turk) Aydin, was suffering from a head cold and did not compete.

The next Husker competition, before the Big Seven indoor at Kansas City, Feb. 25-26, will be a duel with Oklahoma at Memorial Stadium Saturday.

Coach John Jacobs' Sooners will leave by bus at 1 p. m. Friday and spend Friday night at Salina, Kas., to break the long drive.

Links Tilt Tops Prep Schedule

...This Week

By RANDALL W. BLAKE.
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Lincoln, number one team all season long in the Associated Press members top ten ratings, entertains Hastings, number four club this week, in Lincoln Saturday night.

The Links have nailed down 15 straight wins to be the state's only unbeaten Class A team. The Tigers from Hastings have clipped all opposition except Lincoln Northeast for a 15 and one record.

COMMON FOE.

Northeast, number three club in the ratings, whipped Hastings at Hastings and forced Lincoln into an overtime game at the University of Nebraska coliseum.

Alliance ought to whip McCook at McCook in another West Big Ten game Friday night, and Norfolk should grab an East Big Ten decision from Columbus at Norfolk the same night.

Scottsbluff will make another try for a win over a Wyoming team in a joust with Laramie at home on Friday night to complete the West Big Ten schedule.

Fremont will be the underdog against Omaha North and Grand Island shouldn't have much trouble with Lexington in other Friday night games for East Big Ten clubs.

Northeast, pace-setter in the Mid-East conference, rates to handle Crete with more or less ease Friday night, but could find itself in trouble against Falls City on the latter's floor Saturday night. Falls City dropped a two-point decision to Creighton Prep, number two team, at Falls City last week, and Prep owns a two-point verdict over Northeast on Northeast's floor.

Prep meets Omaha Benson, another top 10 outfit, on Benson's flood Friday night in the Omaha feature and rates to duplicate an earlier win over the Bunnies. But the margin may well be smaller than the 40-27 first game decision.

Beatrice will be at Tecumseh with chances for a win, and Boys Town at Nebraska City with similar chances in other Friday night games.

Grand Island should be too much for Fairbury and Kearney can check in with victory over Curtis on Saturday night. Both Grand Island and Kearney will be traveling.

Husker Matmen Test Teachers

Coach Pat Patterson's Cornhusker wrestlers invade Iowa this week to meet Iowa Teachers at Cedar Falls Friday night and Cornell college at Mt. Vernon Saturday.

Iowa Teachers won from Michigan State 15 to 9 recently. Michigan State was second in the national collegiates last year. The teachers are unbeaten thus far this season.

Nebraska wrestlers listed for the trip include Louis Caniglia, Omaha; Bob Yambor, Omaha; Harold Gilliland, Curtis; Bob Russell, Salina, Kas.; Earl Schneider, Snyder; Al Johnson, Omaha; Herb Reese, Omaha; Mike DiBiase, Omaha.

Jack Tamal, Omaha 145-pounder, is out of competition temporarily with an infection.

HUSKER "B" PLAYS.

Neal Mehring's University of Nebraska B basketball team will play the Peru B team at the Auburn high school gymnasium Saturday night.

BOB FLIES

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Bob Feller, the pitcher, has a Veterans Administration certificate of eligibility for a course in advanced flight training. The Cleveland Indians hurler owns a small private plane, holds a pilot's license and makes frequent aerial trips.

JOCKEYS VIE

ARCADIA, Cal—(INS)—Apprentice Jockey Gordon Glisson went back into the riding lead at Santa Anita park Thursday by virtue of his three wins Wednesday. Glisson passed veteran saddlesmith Johnny Longden. Glisson has 42 firsts to date to 40 for Longden.

CZECH LEADS

PARIS — (INS) — Czechoslovakia's Alena Vrzanova took an early lead Thursday in the women's amateur figure-skating championships being held in Paris. At the conclusion of the compulsory figure session the Czech skater headed 21 entrants from seven nations.

TROUBLES FOR BILL

CLEVELAND—(INS)—Bill Veeck of the Cleveland Indians fumed and city officials sputtered following the latest exchange Wednesday in the Municipal stadium rent battle. The Tribe president's "lavish gifts and parties" were thrown into the dispute by Henry W. Speeth, city council democratic floor leader, and immediately drew the warning from Veeck that: "The minute the council sticks its nose into my personal affairs, they're on dangerous ground."

KEHL CLEARS THE BAR—Sophomore Leonard Kehl of Scottsbluff has his hands up as he drops over the pole vault bar at 13 feet 1 inch to win the event in the Nebraska-Kansas State dual meet Wednesday night. The Husker team swamped K-State 79½ to 24½. (Staff Photo.)

JOHN PANELLI, Notre Dame fullback who enjoyed a field day against Nebraska last fall, has enrolled in the Irish law school. . . . Jim (Squat) Myers, the Husker pole vaulter and gridiron halfback, suffered groin and internal injuries during the Missouri dual Saturday that will keep him out of further athletic activity. . . . A hard, tricky runner, an accurate punter and a cool passer, Myers will always rank as a forgotten man of Nebraska football . . . Ralph Berry, the Western league umpire, has opened a night club near Sherman, Tex. . . . What happened to Zingone? . . . Eight members of the Minnesota state game and fish department were recently caught hunting in a refuge without a license . . . Pro teams have offered Bob Kurland, here with the Phillips Oilers Monday eve, as much as $25,000 per season . . . Why does he stay on with the amateur Oilers at a job which pays only a fifth of the pro offers? . . . Listen to George Durham, the Oilers publicity man:

"Kurland will stick with us because he has security and a very bright future in a business capacity with our firm. He is making a comparatively low salary, but he knows he will work his way up to a secure, well-paying position which will be his permanently when his playing days are over. Like all big men, he has a fear of being hurt. If he was injured while playing with a pro team and his career impaired, then where would he be?"

Morrie Sandvold organized the Lincoln Nut House basketball team in 1939 and since has seen his team win four midwest A.A.U. titles . . . Morrie's team a year ago won 31, lost two . . . The current edition has been forced to play a limited number of games due to the weather bugaboo . . . As it stands, the Sandvold gang has played only seven games—and won all of them.

PGA's Top Golfers Vie

...Houston Open

HOUSTON, Tex.—(AP) — Only injured Ben Hogan was missing Thursday as 150 golfers teed off in the first round of the $10,000 Houston Open tournament.

George Schneiter, Professional Golf association tournament director, said all regular members of the PGA winter circuit except Hogan have checked in at the new and difficult Pine Forest Country club course.

All but a handful this week took their first look at the year-old, 6,510-yard layout that has a par 72 and is littered with pine trees, traps and water hazards.

The course record is 69, but Pine Forest isn't old enough to have taken much of a par drubbing.

Houston fans have boosted two native Texans into positions as favorites.

They are the top money winners of the current winter tour—a Jimmie Demaret, the colorful Houstonian who plays out of Ojai, Calif., and Lloyd Mangrum, a native of Dallas but now a Chicago resident.

Demaret, current money leader with $5,862.50, saw his 1949 tournament income pass the idle Mangrum last Sunday when he played his best 18-holes of the season to gain a tie for fifth place in the Texas Open at San Francisco.

Mangrum, who sat out the San Antonio tourney, has won $5,755.

Hogan, recovering in an El Paso hospital from serious injuries received in a West Texas automobile-bus collision, ranks third with $3,823.33.

Regardless of the outcome of the tournament the Houston Open will have a new champion. Bobby Locke of South Africa, the 1947 winner, is absent.

Twenty-six of the 150 players, representing 36 states, Canada and England, are amateurs.

NEW FORDHAM COACH

NEW YORK — (AP) — George E. "Eck" Allen, who recently resigned as head football and basketball coach at the University of Maine, was named today as backfield coach at Fordham for the 1949 season. Allen will assist Head Coach Ed Danowski.

Tiger Stars Score

Stickels, Connor Set Fancy Pace As Hastings Quintet Eyes Lincoln

By GEORGE MILLER
(Star Sports Staff Member)

A HASTINGS team that considers the evening ill spent if its score does not exceed the 50-mark will be the Lincoln high opponent Saturday night in the last home game of the season for the Links.

Coach Roy Bassett will bring the most proficient scoring outfit among the state's Class A teams to Lincoln.

Two players stand out as the one-two blows in the Tigers' terrific scoring punch. Forward Chuck Stickels and Center Ted Connor have singed nets at home and away with remarkable success.

REPEATING STREAK.

Stickels, the frail forward who merited all-state rating as a junior last year, is continuing his last season's pace. At this writing he has rolled in 252 points in 16 games for the Tigers.

His most recent outburst was a 25-point blast against McCook. Stickels is averaging 15.1 points per game. He is ahead of his last year's record when he averaged 12.9 points in all games.

Center Ted Connor is a husky rebound hawk who won fame last fall as an all-state fullback. He has batted home 208 points for an average of 13 per game.

The 6-4 pivotman will give the Links a busy evening in the close confines of the Whittier junior high gym. His best individual game splurge was a 17-point contribution against Norfolk.

TOP TOTALS.

As a team, Hastings hit its fastest stride in smothering Fairbury 89 to 31. Other eye-opening totals were an 81-33 win over Columbus, a 62-38 win over Crete, a 62-24 win over Kearney and last week's 61-33 win over McCook.

Northeast is the only team to hold a decision over Hastings. The Rockets won, 40-36, at Hastings. The Northeast game and a 31-20 win over Sutton in the season opener are the only contests in which Hastings failed to get as many as 42 points.

Lincoln also can show evidence of a high-powered scoring attack. The Links raced to a 70-24 win over Fairbury and might have bettered this mark in other games had first teamers stayed on the job.

Phil Hall and Gus Lebsock are in front in the LHS individual scoring race. Hall has 126 points in 15 games and Lebsock has 125.

Expansion Of Dental Work Considered

At City Health Clinic: 2 Staff Members Resign

If you want an appointment for dental work at the Lancaster county health department, you had best anticipate your toothache by three and a half months.

Dr. Fred Long, director of the department, said Wednesday night that the earliest possible dental appointments at the service center are for the first part of June. The department has one dentist and he works two hours a day.

This was brought out at a regular monthly meeting of the Lincoln-Lancaster health board. Discussion centered on possible expansion of dental service at the center.

Four to Five Treated Daily.

Four or five persons receive dental treatment each day, Dr. Long stated, with children making up the majority. As more funds are available, Dr. Long the dental program will be expanded to accommodate patients more quickly. Treatment is provided for mouth diseases and extractions and filling of teeth is done, but no plates or false teeth are made, he said.

Dr. Long announced the resignations of Dr. J. E. M. Thomson and Miss Sylvia Bryson.

Dr. Thomson has been head of the department's arthritic clinic for about 15 years and stated in his letter of resignation that his services were no longer needed for the clinic's patients have dropped to a handful each day. Arthritic treatment will now be handled by the regular clinic, according to Dr. Long.

Takes Seattle Post.

Miss Bryson, head nurse of the department since September, 1945, is leaving for Seattle to become the director of the city's visiting nurse service and public health nursing for Seattle and King county, Wash. She will be in charge of 100 nurses and will help organize the new city-county health group there.

Her resignation is effective March 15. The board is leaving the replacement of Miss Bryson up to Dr. Long, who stated a new nurse would be obtained as soon as possible.

Miss Alice Jensen, director of public health nursing, will be absent from the department for three weeks beginning March 7 to attend a cancer school for nurses at St. Louis, Mo., Dr. Long said. Her school expenses will be paid from a special state fund, with no cost to the department, according to Dr. Long.

Miss Lippincott's Modern Dances Dramatic, Varied

Audience response to Gertrude Lippincott's program of modern dance Tuesday night was indicative of the growing interest in this type of dancing in Lincoln. Although her dances appeared well-adapted to the small stage of Love Memorial library auditorium, one felt that this gifted young choreographer, teacher and dancer could have made effective use of a larger stage.

Tall and lithe, Miss Lippincott possesses an attractive stage presence and showed considerable dramatic ability and emotional insight in her eight numbers. Her technical perfection, evident throughout the program, was shown strikingly in "Dance of Dedication," from the Choreographer's Workshop 1948 presentation. The fluent grace with which she performed difficult dance movements, "falls" and "recoveries," was applauded enthusiastically.

A pleasant change from the unadorned jersey sheaths and dangling hair ordinarily displayed by modern dancers was provided by the handsomely designed costumes and variety of hairstyles worn by Miss Lippincott..

The Egypt-inspired, tight-fitting gown of the Dance of Dedication was no less appropriate than the gold-banded white silk robe worn in "Deirdre of the Sorrows," a portrayal of J. M. Synge's tragic heroine.

Satiric Finale.

Dramatic lighting effects heightened the intensity of the interesting "The Devil Is Loneliness" and "Tragic Lullaby." The latter number, which showed the influence of Doris Humphrey, was a beautifully conceived expression of a mother's grief. After a passionate rebellion against the death of her child, the dancer's emotion, shown in violent bodily movements, subsided into a quiet acceptance of loss.

Considerable humor combined with delicacy of footwork was in a suite of three pre-classic dance forms which we as the jig, gallop and minuet. Miss Lippincott danced with coquettish gaiety, her hair swept up and her peach-panniered floral costume designed after the style of the 18th century French court, in keeping with the stylized steps and music.

In "Three Indecisions," the broadly satiric finale, Miss Lippincott was delightful as a vain and silly woman torn by shallow emotions. The number was punctuated throughout by chuckles from the audience.

All of the dances were performed to the piano accompaniment of Margaret Stableski.

The program was sponsored by Orchesis, the modern dance group a the University of Nebraska and the university art department.

Dismissal Asked In Libel Suit

Raymond A. McConnell, jr., and the Linccoln State Journal, defendants in the $35,000 libel suit brought by H. P. Heiliger, filed an answer Thursday in District court, asking that the petition be dismissed.

The defendants cited "fair comment upon the record and candidacy of the plaintiff for such public office" as grounds for their motion for dismissal.

Heiliger, who was a candidate for re-election as state legislator, brought the suit a few days following his defeat in the Nov. 2 election.

Weed District To Keep Assessment

The Lancaster Noxious Weed district at its annual meeting Wednesday afternoon decided to continue for next year the yearly assessment of one cent per acre of land in the district.

The district includes all of Lancaster county except the Denton township, which is a separate district.

The group heard talks by Paul Sand and Logan Heusel of the state noxious weeds division and saw a film, "Lost Harvest," shown by assistant County Agent Tom Sherman.

James Trausch is manager of the district.

3 Counties In Need of Help

Gov. Val Peterson reported by telephone to his office Thursday that Greeley, Wheeler and Antelope counties still are in need of army help, particularly in opening paths to haystacks.

The governor is making a survey of the storm-hit northeast part of the state by car.

In Greeley county, the governor said, many roads still are unopened, and, on a number of farms, roads had not been opened to haystacks in order to feed cattle. County officials indicated they needed seven bulldozers at least three or four more days.

He visited the county commissioners of Wheeler county at Bartlett. They 'complimented the army for its job, he said, but told him they still had 10 days' work for 15 bulldozers.

The governor said "It should be remembered that so far it is impossible to truck coal and feed over bulldozer trails because these trails drift over almost continuously."

"In both Greeley and Wheeler counties, there is a great deal of work yet to be done," he asserted.

Around Elgin in Antelope county, the governor said, there were a large number of farms on which haystacks were still inaccessible.

He was unable to get to Garfield county or to contact officials there.

Thursday he planned to visit Creighton in Knox county, and then Cedar, Wayne and Thurston counties.

The governor was expected to return home Thursday night or Friday.

Benedict Farm Home Destroyed By Blaze

BENEDICT, Neb. — Efforts of the York fire department to save the blazing farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Ratliff Tuesday were stymied by a stalled car.

En route to the Ratliff farm, south of here, the York fire truck was traveling behind a car which became stuck in the snow thus forcing the fire fighters to make an extended detour.

Meanwhile, flames completely destroyed the Ratliff's one and a half story home. The Benedict fire department was able to save a few pieces of furniture.

Corn Mixed; Wheat Down

CHICAGO—(AP)—A renewal of selling pressure in soybeans created an easy undertone in all commodities on the board of trade today. Soybeans fell several cents at times in a nervous trade.

Grains held fairly steady most of the session, but started to slip toward the close in line with the soybean downturn. Even corn, which had been firm early on receipt of only 46 cars of cash corn here, fell around a cent in the late trade.

Wheat closed 1 to 1½ cents lower, May $2.15¾@⅞, corn was ¾ cent lower to ⅛ cent higher, May $1.29⅝@½, oats were ⅛ cent lower to ¾ cent higher, May 68⅝@68½c, rye was ¾ to 2¼ cents lower, May $2.28¼, soybeans were 1 to 2¾ cents lower, March $2.29¾@2.30½, and lard was 8 to 13 cents a hundred pounds lower, March $12.57.

Stock Gains Are Reduced

NEW YORK—(AP)—An advancing stock market had scarcely started rolling ahead today when buying interest faltered.

Gains of fractions to more than a point still held a majority but in most cases the widest advances were cut down.

Far in front of the run of the market was Douglas Aircraft with a boost of around 5 points at one time. The stock moved up in easy response to dividend news.

Steels and oils were among the most popular groups but advances were mostly in fractions.

Marked up were U. S. Steel, Youngstown Sheet, American Telephone, Consolidated Natural Gas, Phelps Dodge, American Can, Union Carbide, Johns-Manville, Phelps Morris, Radio Corp., International Paper, Santa Fe, N. Y. Central, Nickel Plate, Texas Co., Mission Corp., and Twentieth Century-Fox.

Monopoly Charges Denied

By National City Bus Lines In U.S. Anti-Trust Suit

CHICAGO — (INS) — An all-woman jury today heard resumption of testimony in the federal suit against the $250,000,000 National City Lines, Inc., a bus company charged with violation of an anti-trust law.

Federal Judge William F. Campbell is sitting in the trial of the company which owns and operates bus lines in more than 40 U. S. cities including the Lincoln City Bus Lines in Lincoln, Neb.

The government's monopoly suit against the company was highlighted yesterday by the "Horatio Alger" story of President E. Roy Fitzgerald of the National City Lines firm. Fitzgerald rose from auto washer to president of the concern.

In all, eight corporations and seven individuals are on trial. Defense Attorney John T. Chadwell admitted that the company entered into exclusive contracts with suppliers such as General Motors, Mack Manufacturing, Firestone Co., and Standard Oil Co.

But Chadwell denied the government charges that a conspiracy existed to restrain trade and monopolize bus business in 42 cities and 19 states.

Chadwell argued that the contracts with the firms mentioned actually were more beneficial to the lines than to the suppliers, who, he said, never attempted to control Fitzgerald's policies.

Chadwell claimed that Fitzgerald led other operators to extend their activities, stimulating trade for other suppliers and increasing their sales rather than restraining them.

One man's Opinion

by WALTER KIERNAN

(Distributed by International News Serv.

Wallace shouldn't feel too badly if his budget isn't adopted . . . Truman's doesn't stand much chance either.

But it was sporting of Henry to give us his opinion after the one we gave him in November.

KIERNAN

And it must be said for Henry that he accomplished in 18 pages what it took Harry 1,429 pages to do . . . confuse us.

But these are confusing times . . . New York housemaids are protesting a bill to fingerprint them. They feel their job is removing prints . . . not leaving them.

If the bill passes, houseworkers will be expected to provide references from their last employer and a soup plate containing an inside print.

The American labor party is protesting the bill . . . also the communist trial, the governor's budget, military training and the unseasonable weather.

Water Supply Officials Here For Meeting

More than 60 small community water commissioners came to the University of Nebraska Thursday to begin a three-day conference sponsored jointly by the university, the League of Nebraska Municipalities, and the Nebraska section of the American Water Works association.

Prof. Niles H. Barnard of the engineering college explained the purpose of the session is to offer practical advice on engineering, sanitation, and routine problems arising in municipal water plant operations.

Addressing the opening program at the Student Union, E. C. Reed, associate chief of the University of Nebraska conservation and survey division, reported a co-operative state-federal ground water survey has already proved helpful to about 75 per cent of the state's municipalities.

2,200 Test Holes Dug.

Since 1930, survey workers have drilled more than 2,200 test holes in Nebraska, varying in depth from 60 to 700 feet. Eventually, Reed said, the study will produce information not only useful to those interested in domestic water supplies but to irrigators and farmers as well.

Among those participating in the program are Dr. W. S. Petty, state director of health; T. A. Filipi, state sanitary engineer; and L. O. Vose, laboratory director, state department of health. Dean Roy M. Green of the engineering college will address the banquet session of the group Friday at the Student Union.

Suit On Premiums

Assistant U. S. Attorney James L. Brown Wednesday filed suit for the government against the Crete Conservative Mortgage Co., for alleged non-payment of wheat crop insurance. The complaint charges in four counts non-payment of a total of $162.81 in premiums.

Bargaining Right Asked By Foremen

Not Permitted Under Taft-Hartley Law

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The Foreman's Association of America today asked congress to require employers to bargain collectively with foremen.

Carl Brown, the association president, made the appeal in a statement prepared for the senate labor committee.

The committee late yesterday was asked by the Ford Motor Co. to keep on the books a Taft-Hartley law provison which, while not barring the formation of foremen's unions, denies to such groups the collective bargaining rights granted to other unions.

William T. Gossett, vice president and general counsel of the Ford company, told the committee "We know from actual experience" with the foremen's association "that unionization of supervisors is unworkable."

Brown asked that the whole Taft-Hartley law be repealed and that the old Wagner Act be substituted for it. Under that act, the national labor relations board finally held that employers were required to bargain collectively with foremen's unions.

Brown told the committee that under the Taft-Hartley law "many employers are imposing the same unsatisfactory conditions of employment upon foremen as were imposed on other groups of employes" prior to enactment of the original Wagner act in 1935.

Ponca Park Funds Asked

...$75,000 Appropriation

The legislative miscellaneous appropriations committee hearing room was filled Wednesday when nearly 40 persons appeared before the committee to press their plea for a $75,000 appropriation for Ponca state park.

The third of four such bills to be heard by the committee action was delayed on LB 295 until the other measure, an appropriation for the Chadron state park, is heard by the committee on March 9.

Merle Kingsbury, heading the delegation, told the committee that Ponca could not compete with other state parks without adequate swimming facilities, playground equipment and other improvements. He stressed the need of a master plan for future development of the park.

"Not Good Economy."

"Roads in the park are going to pieces, shelter houses are falling down," Kingsbury said. "Economizing to a point where state property is allowed to deteriorate is not good economy."

Kingsbury told the committee that "if developed to the maximum point, the park will be 85 to 90 per cent self-supporting."

Phil Verzani, Ponca attorney, said the residents around Ponca state park," want no more for their park than the other state parks have, but we don't want any less."

He said the proponents of the bill would be willing to postpone the needed improvements if the other parks were also postponed but if appropriations were made, Ponca wanted its share.

Real Estate Educational Proposal Is Killed

In other action Wednesday the committee killed LB 487, providing for an appropriation of $10,000 to the state real estate commission to provide for an educational program for real estate licensees.

The committee also killed LB 459, which sought to give Addie L. Pearce, Lincoln, authority to sue the state for damages resulting from injuries in a fall on the steps at the entrance of the capitol building.

Bull Sterility Seriousness Is Still Unknown

SCOTTSBLUFF, Neb.—(AP)—Sterility of bulls as a result of the winter weather may be less serious than was first thought, Dr. F. W. Brand, Scottsbluff veterinarian, said today. However, definite effects will not be known until spring, he added.

He expressed the opinion that sending the bulls to slaughter now was a mistake and said ranchers should nurse along their injured bulls until spring to see how lasting the effects were. Most of those sent so far have been thin and weak, he added.

Nemaha's Protein Content Is Tops

Nemaha oats is the richest source of protein and vitamin B among the Nebraska certified oat varieties, according to data obtained by the University of Nebraska agricultural experiment station in Lincoln, in co-operation with the federal plant, soil and nutrition laboratory at Ithaca, N. Y. Dr. F. J. Bell is in charge of the Nebraska out-state testing program.

Analysis were completed on grain samples obtained from out-state testing plots located on different farms across Nebraska in 1948. A table shows the relative values for protein and vitamin B^1 content of several oat varieties.

Here are the average values for the crude protein and vitamin B^1 content of oat varieties grown in replicated plots at 10 locations in Nebraska during 1948:

Variety	Crude Protein (Per cent)	Vitamin B^1 (micrograms per gram)
Nemaha	15.5	9.8
Cherokee	15.1	9.2
Clinton	14.6	8.5
Otoe	14.3	7.1
Cedar	14.0	6.1
Kherson	14.6	7.6

Sour food, acid indigestion and gas frequently cause a morbid, touchy, fretful, peevish, nervous condition, loss of appetite, underweight, restless sleep, weakness.

To get real relief you must increase the flow of this vital gastric juice.
